JOHN W. DAVIS means to hold the short speech record, a wise, almost pious resolution. He will "accept" his nomination in only four thousand words of talk.

Great moderation and self-control, you say. Yet in thirty-one verses of the first, and two verses of the second chapters of Genesis, the Bible describes the creation of earth and everything on it. And the whole thing, including the rest on the seventh day, is told in about ONE thousand words.

FOR BREVITY and beauty, candidates, editors, and especially advertisement writers, should study the Bible, especially Genesis, Job, Isaiah, and the Sermon on the Mount. Any Presidential candidate might make an acceptance speech, pleasing to 99 in 100, in three words, as follows: "MEN ABOVE DOLLARS."

SPECIALISTS in Paris divorces may move to Moscow. There you get a divorce for $1.50 in five minutes if both parties agree—as they usually do in Paris.

YOU DON'T have to prove infidelity or cruelty. Simply to agree is enough. Bolshevism gives you a divorce if you prove that your life partner is "excessively religious" or "too much addicted to religious superstition." You can even get a divorce if your wife or husband is opposed to your politics. That is all new in divorce.

BOLSHEVISM, however, won't go too far in making light of holy matrimony. No individual can get more than three divorces in one year, which recalls the department store advertisement, "Only one to a customer."

MRS "JACK" GARDNER of Boston, intelligent and rich, spent her life collecting fine works of art, stored in her "Venetian Palace" in New England. Now, dying, she leaves all to the public, "to be maintained as a public museum forever."

FOR THAT purpose she provides an income of $1,200,000. If her seven trustees disobey her wishes, everything is to be sold and the money given to Harvard University to increase professors' salaries and maintain scholarships.

Make a polite bow to the ghost of Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, as it sails upward. She lived usefully and died intelligently.

THE OLD, solid and able Brooklyn Eagle is a good investment for anybody's money. Five hundred shares of Brooklyn Eagle stock, yielding about 5½ per cent. now (more later), can be bought at $140 a share.

Why on earth Gunnison of the Eagle allows anybody else to get that stock with all the money he has, nobody knows. He's unselfish, that may explain it.

BROOKLYN, third city in the United States now, with more than 2,000,000 inhabitants, will have 5,000,000 people within twenty years and will reach eventually from the East River to Montauk Point.

And while Brooklyn stands, the solid old Eagle will stand. It is a good chance for a conservative investment. Apply to Mr. Gunnison, Brooklyn Eagle, Brooklyn, N. Y., for information.

"A STRONG ONE million share market" was yesterday's Wall Street day of investing, speculating and gambling. You invest when you buy to keep, you speculate when you think you know what you are doing, you gamble when you play the fool.

It was better than a one million share market—actual sales 1,300,000 shares. Things are booming on the stock market and on the farmers. Whether because it "just happened," or because powerful insiders are at work, things are going up.

FARMERS SAY it costs $1.15 to raise wheat. It sold yesterday at $1.28 for December. Corn sells well above a dollar a bushel. Men, not old, remember when farmers used corn for fuel

ASKS DEATH FOR LOEB, LEOPOLD

State Calls Franks Case Defendants "Cold Killers"; Youths Calm in Court

Chicago, July 23.—Edwin M. Gresham, an uncle of the Franks boy was the first witness called by the State in the Leopold-Loeb trial today. He told of identifying the body of his nephew. Jacob Franks, wealthy father of the slain boy, was the next witness. Crowe then said Mrs. Franks would follow.

Chicago, July 23 (A.P.).—The kidnaping of fourteen-year-old Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, was a strictly "commercial proposition," the abductors wrote in their first letter to the father of their victim.

The letter was read today in the opening of the hearing before Chief Justice Caverly to determine the penalty the two college youths shall pay for the death of young Franks, to which for the second time they affirmed today their lawyer's plea of guilty.

State Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in an opening statement, recited the story of the boys' planning of the "little fellow's murder" from what he said was the inception of the plot in the minds of the two brilliant sons of prominent families here last Fall.

"In the name of the people of the State of Illinois and of the parenthood and childhood of the State, we demand the death penalty for both of these cold-blooded and vicious murderers," said Mr. Crowe in concluding his address.

At one point in the State's attorney alluded to evidence he would ask to "present to the court in private." "The nature of the evidence," he said, "can will be seen, and doubtless appreciated by the court, is such that it would be improper to reveal it in open court."

Coming to a recital of the first show of weakness by Loeb during his first questioning by State's Attorney Crowe, the prosecutor raised his voice and paced nervously before the bench.

He told of Loeb's excited cry for a glass of water after he was told that his companion had revealed their secret.

"My God!" the youth cried. He then offered to tell the whole story. The same strategy applied later to Leopold. Mr. Crowe said, produced a like reaction.

"Each accused the other of being the actual murderer, and sought to save his own neck," the prosecutor shouted.

Every detail of the planning preparation, foreseen by the young conspirators, was reviewed by the prosecutor.

He told of the perfection of the details for their plot on May 21, and of a careful deliberation afterward in the question of who should be their victim.

PLANNED OTHER CRIMES

The sons of numerous wealthy families were considered before young Franks was agreed upon.

The defendants were styled "cold, calculating murderers."

American Was First With Pictures of the Boston

If you failed to buy the Boston American yesterday you were the loser, for you failed to get the first authentic pictures of the S. S. Boston disaster.

As usual, the American led in getting faithful descriptive photographs of the wreck, the extent of the disaster and the conditions of the survivors.

Other newspapers trailed in the usual order, but the American was first.

NOW OIL AT LOW PRICE IS SOLD IN CHELSEA

Chelsea, encouraged by the success of its municipal gasoline filling station, went into the oil business today.

Three grades of auto oil were sold. One retailed for 12 cents a quart, one for 16, and one for 20. For similar grades, commercial filling stations were getting on an average 5 cents more.

Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley, author of the plan for the municipal "gas" station, said this morning that the city will remain in the market until the prices come down.

In one day 2,000 gallons of gasoline were sold at the station in the city stables. Women, best friends of economy, were in the majority among the purchasers.

Automobiles from distant points were observed in the waiting line. Visitors stopping at Boston hotels have been interested by Quigley's cheaper gasoline campaign and showed a disposition to take advantage of it.

Today or tomorrow a second station will be opened at Chelsea square and Park street. Ultimately seven stations will be in operation.

A new pump was installed at the city stables today. Hundreds of machines were waiting when the city employes opened the doors and began selling.

It was indicated that yesterday's record for sales would be beaten.

RADIO RECEIVING CONDITIONS TONIGHT

Radio receiving conditions tonight are forecast as probably fair from broadcasting stations in the Eastern States and South Central States, but unfavorable from Western States.

BOY DROWNED WHILE SISTER SEEKS HELP

Antonio P. Bunzotti, aged ten years, of No. 83 Burrell street, Roxbury, was drowned today while bathing on the beach at the foot of H street, South Boston.

Little Tony's death was another grim reminder of the need for more life guards along the Strandway, where hundreds of women and children go bathing every day.

Tony went to the beach with his mother and little sister. They were in wading while Tony, in a new bathing suit, ventured out too far and tumbled into the channel.

The boy's sister and another little girl, instead of giving an alarm to the 200 bathers at the point, ran to L street bathhouse, two blocks away.

Then someone learned that a boy had sunk in the channel and shouted to Patrolman William Morrow and Stephen Sullivan. Someone else telephoned to the new bathhouse, a quarter mile away toward Dorchester.

Before the policemen or life guards got there the boy's body had disappeared. Grappling irons were secured and fifteen minutes later the body was recovered.

Life Guards Walter Byrnes and John Holland responded from the new bath house and George Cudahy came from L street. Cudahy gave the boy first aid and accompanied him in an ambulance to Carney Hospital where heroic use of a lung motor for thirty minutes failed.

THWARTS KIDNAPING OF BABY

Defender Drives Off Prowlers at Camp in South Peabody After a Lusty Battle

Peabody, July 23.—A bold attempt to kidnap a baby girl from a Summer camp at South Peabody was frustrated today by William Butler, forty-five years old, of No. 4 High street, Lynn.

For his courage and his pains Butler received a blackened eye, a split lip and head injuries.

The child is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Ross of Lynn, who was granted a divorce and custody of the baby in Essex Superior Court last Tuesday. She has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Butler.

Hearing somebody prowling about just before daybreak, Butler, who formerly was roller skating champion of New England, telephoned to the police.

Then he ran into the yard to see what the matter was. Two men met him as he raced around the cottage. They were at the window of the room in which the baby was sleeping.

They attacked him and he gave battle, but was borne to the ground. Mrs. Butler rushed to his assistance, and aimed a teacup at one of the prowlers, but missed him.

Mrs. Ross later joined in the defense of her baby, and the discouraged kidnapers withdrew in disorder, empty-handed. The baby, Sandra, who is a little over two years old, slept through it all.

Police say they know the man who inspired the kidnaping and can find those who attempted it.

BABY PEGGY IS ILL, TOUR CANCELLED

Atlantic City, July 23.—Cancellation of a national tour by Baby Peggy, child motion picture star, was ordered by a physician due to fever resulting from vaccination.

The specialist attending Baby Peggy stated that her illness was by no means critical. Baby Peggy's sister, Louise, aged eight, is similarly ill.

SAFE AND HAPPY AGAIN.

Here's the happiest passenger saved from the rammed liner Boston. He is little Billy Ghansley, aged two, of Yonkers, N. Y. When the crash came Billy thought only of his proudest possession—a clay bubble pipe. It was the only thing he saved from the wreck. He was all smiles when he was finally picked up safely in a lifeboat, the pipe firmly clutched in his hand.

REDMOND MAY LOSE LICENSE

George F. Redmond & Company, Inc., and Withington & Company, registered stock brokerage concerns of this city have been summoned to appear before the Public Utilities Commission at the State House Friday morning, at 10:30 o'clock to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked.

Sworn testimony adduced at the recent trail of George F. Redmond in United States court will be presented to the commission by Inspector Silas F. Watts of the "blue sky" division.

Redmond was found guilty by a jury of conspiracy and using the mails to defraud when tried in Federal court. Former associates of the "winter-to-millionaire" stock broker paid fines or entered pleas of nolo to indictments.

Withington & Company, it was brought out at the trial, was a Redmond Company subsidiary.

In an order issued today by the commission, the securities of 145 corporations, trusts, companies and other bodies are forbidden to be sold in Massachusetts. All failed to file information required under the "Blue Sky" law, the department says.

Overcome by the heat on his way to work, Alexander Ozendam dropped dead at the Western avenue gate of the General Electric Company in West Lynn. He was 65 years old.

Starting at seventy-eight degrees at eight o'clock today Boston and New England were in a fair way to experience one of the hottest days of the year today.

The mercury touched 87 at 1 p. m. and the humidity was 66 at 11 a. m.

Tomorrow is also expected to be warm.

Early today the weather man announced that he would not be surprised if the thermometer should hit ninety-five and keep on going a few degrees higher.

OPEN PROBE OF BOSTON CRASH

Federal Inspectors Find Mass of Contradictory Evidence as to the Blame

Steamboat inspectors of the United States coastal service today began an investigation of the collision of the Eastern Steamship Company liner Boston and the loaded oil tanker Swift Arrow in the fog off Point Judith, R. I.

As they went into conference they were confronted with a mass of contradictory evidence concerning responsibility for the crash, in which four lives were lost and several persons injured.

In some quarters there was bitter criticism of the Boston's crew for alleged incompetency and unpreparedness.

In others there was unstinted praise for the men of the crippled passenger liner.

Officers of the Swift Arrow and the Boston differed radically as to the proper place to lay the blame.

Some survivors said that had it not been for the valor and ability of the Boston's crew the death list would have been much higher. Others said that the crew was very lucky and was saved by chance from participating in one of the worst sea disasters in history.

C. T. Snow, a port captain of the Eastern Steamship Lines, and second in command of the Boston when the Swift Arrow nosed into her, has issued a statement putting the blame squarely up to Captain J. Jose Gomez and the other officers of the tanker.

The essential parts of his report, which have been supported by Cap-

SHIP HITS ON MAINE COAST

Many Women and Children Take to Lifeboats as the Craft Grounds in Fog

Rockland, Me., July 23.—Two hundred passengers were taken off the steamship James T. Morse in lifeboats today after she grounded on a ledge near Crotch Island, at the entrance of Stonington Harbor.

Many women and children, vacation-bound, were among the passengers. For the work of transfer was thrilling, even if not dangerous.

A dense fog, the primary cause of the accident, made the work of the life boat crews more difficult than it otherwise would have been. There was no grave disorder, it is understood.

The James T. Morse, of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., left Rockland early today for Bar Harbor.

GROUNDED GENTLY.

Making her way through the narrow channel that separates Crotch Island and Green Head, and proceeding slowly because of the fog which has hung over the North Atlantic coast for days, she grounded gently on a flat ledge and it was impossible to get her off.

In view of the S. S. Boston disaster, a feeling of uneasiness swept the passenger decks when the impact was felt. Consequently there was no danger, the ship's officers assured the life boats lowered and the passengers, reassured, filed into them in orderly array. They were landed at Stonington. Nobody was injured.

It was low tide when the passenger steamer grounded, and a cursory examination of her position convinced seamen that she was not damaged. "The officers expected to float her off the ledge at high tide

BATTLING SIKI MARRIES WHITE GIRL

New York, July 23.—Battling Siki, Senegalese pugilist, was married today in the Municipal Building in Lower Manhattan to Mrs. Alice Siki, a white girl of this city. The boxer's real name is Louis Phal, was known to the boxing fraternity, and his birth place at St. Louis, Senegal, Africa. The bride, who gave her age as thirty years, is an artist. Siki described himself as an "artist."

FRANKS' SLAYERS ARE CALM AS THEIR BATTLE FOR LIFE OPENS

STATE ASKS DEATH PENALTY; CALLS CRIMES 'COLD BLOODED'

Frequently one would whisper to the other.

Leopold frequently sat with his fingers for minutes on end as fifteen minutes dragged by.

Loeb, however, from the outset of his ordeal was the more nervous of the two. He frequently would speak to his counsel, Clarence Darrow, with apparent nervousness, and then wholly without outward show of feeling.

SCHEMED FOR MONTHS

Nathan Leopold, Jr., fathered one of the most unique and unusual crimes of the century, a crime in which two men, whose fate is at stake, set aside a few feet of the bar, and next to another and, with a cold, calculating and deep hate of their fellowman, of a peculiarly fiendish nature and heavy heart.

The prosecution before Judge John R. Caverly, sitting without a jury, opened its case with the reading of the indictment charging the defendants with the murder of Robert A. Franks, 14-year-old son of Jacob Franks, wealthy Chicago manufacturer, on May 21.

Then the state, through its attorneys, Robert E. Crowe and Thomas D. Nash, began to present its evidence to show that the murder was committed after months of careful planning by the two defendants, and that it was committed with the deliberate intent to kill.

READS 'MODEL LETTER'

In reading the indictment, Assistant State's Attorney Nash read the letter which Leopold had composed the fraudulent ransom letter, which was directed to Jacob Franks, father of the murdered boy, demanding $10,000 for the return of the boy. This letter was read by Nash in a voice that could be heard throughout the courtroom.

"Dear Sir:

"As you no doubt realize by now, we have taken your son. We are willing to return him to you safely for the sum of $10,000 which you will hand us in used bills of small denomination.

"Do not try to communicate with the police or any detective agency or secret service department. If you do, you will never see your son alive again. If you pay us the money as directed, you will have him back safely within a few hours.

"Do not try to play any double cross. Your son will be returned to you unharmed if you follow our instructions to the letter. We are desperate men and will stop at nothing to gain our ends. We have hidden your son where no one will find him. He is safe and unharmed and will remain so if you do as we say.

"Do not try to advertise the money. We will tell you how to deliver it in our next letter.

"Do not try to trace this letter or to find us when you deliver the money. We will be watching you and will kill the boy if you do not follow our instructions to the letter.

"We will communicate with you again tomorrow.

"Yours truly,

"A FRIEND."

Mr. Crowe told of Loeb's registering at the Morrison hotel under an assumed name and how the wife was left in his room concealed under some bedclothes while Loeb went downstairs and joined Richard Loeb.

He then described how the body covered the automobile in which the murder was committed. Leopold's eyeglass was found from their own car in the ravine where the body was found.

LURED TO DEATH

Mr. Crowe said that the evidence would show that Leopold and Loeb planned to murder their victim first, then to make ransom afterwards.

He said they met another boy, Levinson, whom they knew, in a car, and, since Levinson knew Franks, it could not be difficult to lure young Franks into a trap.

He told how those "unfortunate" boys were transferred from their own car to the rented one.

"Then they went to the Harvard school," he said, "looked around for the boys and instructors and decided to do away with Johnnie Levinson."

He said that fortunately for Levinson he went home by an unexpected route.

"Then they went to the Harvard school," he said, "looked with some care at the boys and instructors and decided to do away with Johnnie Levinson."

He said that fortunately for Levinson he went home by an unexpected route.

"Now there was another boy there, a boy who rode the bicycle had played tennis with Loeb in the lagoon," Mr. Crowe said. "Compassionate, kindly,' we'll ride you home,' said Loeb. "'No, I prefer to walk,' said Bobby.

"Come on, get out your tennis racket,' said Loeb and Bobby went to his death. They turned in the car and at once the poor little man sent my wife screaming to the hospital with gunshot and taken a lonely spot on the lake shore where it was set fire.

A blood-stained robe was received that his odor saturate the house. The garments were burned in the Loeb

RANSOM IS IGNORED

"The next day they tried to wash blood from the hired car," said Mr. Crowe. "Your honor will be shown that car and the partially erased stains."

He told how the ransom letter was mailed and the first telephone message sent to Mrs. Jacobs Franks, requesting her, "Your son has been kidnaped. He is safe. Don't worry. Details later."

Mr. Crowe said Loeb started the second letter to Mr. Franks, that the latter then was told by Judge to enter a taxicab and drive to a certain drug store and await instructions.

"But," said Mr. Crowe, "Mr. Franks had just learned of the finding of the boy's body and he did not go. Headlines in newspapers informed also these criminal conspirators of the fact and they abandoned their plan to collect the $10,000 ransom."

The police efforts to solve the mystery were detailed.

He said that Leopold had given an opinion, based on his study of the vicinity of the culvert on bird trees, that no one could find the culvert in the dark even by accident.

Mr. Crowe then described the trip to the railroad culvert and then told how the murderers removed shoes, stockings and trousers from their victim, completing the undressing after they reached the culvert.

"Leopold took the body and forced its face downward into the drain," he said, adding that efforts to erase the features with acid failed because of water in the culvert.

Mr. Crowe next described the "one week alibi" which the murderers concocted. It included a fake trip to study a species of gull and a "day ride" with whiskey, gin and "pick-up" girls as accompaniments.

Rescued, Partially Overcome by Smoke, at $12,000 Blaze in Somerville

In a spectacular blaze early today three tenantry frame structures in the Union square section of Somerville and the storage house of Swinburne and Peters, a horse was burned to death in a small barn adjoining the structures. Several persons, a number of children living in the neighborhood were removed from their homes.

Thomas and Robert F. Fitzgerald and James, Joseph and Francis Mearls, children who live nearby, were carried from their houses by firemen, partially overcome by smoke.

The storage building, a wooden shed and a small barn, were destroyed, with a loss estimated at $12,000. The buildings were owned by Thomas and William Hanlon. The house was owned by John Doran of Prospect street.

HEROIC BOY AND SWEETHEART PERISH

New York, July 23 (I.N.S.).—The Hudson River, off Sandy Point, N. Y., was being dragged today for the bodies of Eleanore Griffiths, fourteenth, and Stanley De Ahoy, fifteen, youthful sweethearts, who went unnoticed locked in each other's arms.

The boy and girl students at Emerson High School, West Hoboken, and both of prominent New Jersey families, started out for an outing at Sandy Point. They went canoeing and also played on the beach.

Stanley suddenly heard Eleanore scream. The elder had pulled her into midstream. He swam to her. He struggled to bring her ashore, but both went down.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Providence, July 23.—Two persons were injured and seven shaken up in an auto collision and fire on Main street in the town of Lippitt.

Elmer R. Hirshfield of Arctic drove one of the cars; Henry Lemay of Centredale the other.

Miss Regina Theberge, who was riding with Hirshfield, was cut about the right hand. Miss Estelle Chapelaine, one of seven occupants of the other car, was bruised about the face and head.

GARMENT WORKERS IN BALTIMORE STRIKE

Baltimore, July 23.—Approximately 1,500 local garment workers went on strike today to enforce demands for better working conditions. Practically all of the thirty shops in the city which manufacture women's garments are affected by the order.

The operatives demand establishment of unemployment insurance for the workers, abolition of the piecework system, equal pay for men and women doing the same work, and use of a sanitary label in garments.

If prices on farms and the stock exchange can be kept booming, it will be a good thing for conservative candidates. The man making money isn't much interested in complaints.

IN THE CASE against bootlegging waiters at the Ritz-Carlton, New York, the "gentleman" that drank the stuff is fined $250. The waiter that sold it will be sent to prison they say. Why? Which is more criminal, the rich man tempting the waiter with money or the waiter yielding to temptation?

In the famous garden of Eden case EVERYBODY was punished. Adam, who was tempted, or said he was, left the garden with Eve. And the snake, which played the part of "waiter," was condemned to walk on his stomach in the dust, whereas he had previously gone along proudly on the tip of his tail.

"Upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life" was the severe sentence. In addition, it was said, that Eve's children "shall bruise thy head." And the snake could not hire an alienist to prove that he was not responsible.

BANKERS in Syracuse have formed a committee to protect their depositors against "blue sky" gentlemen selling worthless securities. It is a good idea that should be imitated by bankers everywhere. If money stolen from the country by the get-rich-quick schemers could be sent through banks into legitimate business, the country would be better off, and poor houses not so crowded.

Ask a banker before you buy stocks of which you know nothing.

"Cabinet of Death" Moved Into Court at Franks Trial

Chicago, July 23 (I.N.S.).—State's Attorney Crowe's cabinet of death was moved into the courtroom today just before Chief Justice Caverly entered.

It was ranged directly before the bar. It contained:

A heavy tape-wrapped chisel. The crosswhite white tape was dark splotched.

A pair of heavy horn-rimmed spectacles, the mate itself missing that first actually linked the name of a millionaire's son, Nathan Leopold, Jr., with the Bobby Franks murder.

A spade, still stained with the oily clay which it had turned over the clothes of the victim.

A motorist's robe in which the nude body of the victim had been wrapped.

TAXIS HIGHER IN BOSTON THAN IN NEW YORK

New York, July 23.—Visitors to New York this Summer enjoy taxicab rates lower than those in any other city in the country.

Beginning Friday, they may ride in taxis at 20 cents a mile straight. The first two days of the last rise brought down minimum taxi rates from 40 cents the first mile and 30 cents a mile thereafter to 20 cents and 20 cents.

This is lower by five cents for the first mile than the promised rate of the newly-formed U. S. Cab Corporation, which precipitated the rate-cutting.

The Yellow Taxicab Corporation, the 2500 cars of which form the largest number operated by a single concern, has made no move to lower its rates, which remain at 40 cents the first mile and 30 cents a mile thereafter.

The first cars of the U. S. Cab Corporation are expected to be placed in service tomorrow. They will charge twenty-five cents the first mile and twenty cents for each succeeding mile.

Boston taxicabs charge approximately thirty cents a mile after the first mile, when a charge is made of forty cents. The Checker Taxi Company, which charges twenty cents for the first third of a mile and ten cents for every third after that, issues books at $5 and $10 each which gives the rider a mile for thirty cents. The other taxicabs in the city average about thirty cents a mile.

Joseph F. SAFE-CRACKER SUSPECTS CAPTURED

Noise of Jimmies on Door Results in Two Down-Town Arrests

Too much noise proved the downfall of two safe-crackers inspectors discovered at work on the second floor of the factory building at No. 87 Bedford street today.

Passing by, Patrolman Powers of the Lincoln street station heard metal grinding on metal.

With Sergeant Nickerson and Patrolman Wells he entered the building and found two young men on the second floor, working with jimmies on the massive door of the Michaelson Hosiery Company.

A complete kit of burglars' and safe-crackers' tools lay spread out on the floor.

Taken by surprised, the two men did not show fight. At the station they said they were Melvin F. White, 19 years old, of No. 10 Blossom street, West End, and John Donohue, twenty-one, No. 3 Lawrence place.

It is the claim of the police that they meant to open the safe in the hosiery company office. The merchandise in the plant is too bulky to be attractive to thieves.

A charge of breaking and entering was made against the pair, and they were questioned as to their knowledge of recent burglaries and safe jobs in the downtown section and the South End.

GOULD WINS SUIT ON ARCHITECT'S FEE

Versailles, July 23.—A court today decided in favor of Frank Jay Gould in a suit brought by his architect, M. Houdet, for fees in connection with work alleged to have been done in planning the transformation of a tract of Mr. Gould's property into an area suitable for a stud farm. The architect had drawn up an estimate which Gould found to be large and had sent in a bill for services which the American considered exorbitant.

PAYS $35 FINE FOR RAMMING OIL TRUCK

When Samuel Goldstein, a grocer at Hubbard avenue, North Cambridge, drove his automobile into an oil truck he went away without making known his identity, the police say. In East Cambridge Court today, Goldstein was fined $25 for driving away after an accident without giving his name; $5 for driving without having a license in his possession and $5 for having no registration card with him.

PROBE REPORTS OF CASKET TRUST

Albany, N. Y., July 23.—An alleged monopoly in caskets by certain Syracuse undertakers is to be investigated by New York State Attorney-General Sherman announced today.

Sherman received complaints from four Syracuse undertakers that it was virtually impossible for them to secure caskets unless they were members of a certain undertakers association.

SLAYER'S EYES SHUT AS HE GOES TO CHAIR

Trenton, N. J., July 23.—Antonio Stasik, slayer of Paterson, was executed in the electric chair at the State Prison here for the murder of his wife at Paterson on June 27, 1923.

Weakened by continual worry and lack of nourishment, Stasik had to be lifted into the chair. He kept his eyes closed from the time he left his cell until the current was turned on. He did not make a statement.

HOLD 11 IN HUB COUNTERFEIT BILL PLOT

$50,000 in Spurious $10 Federal Reserve Notes Put in Circulation

Providence, July 23.—Born in the twisted mind of a murder convict, who spent eleven years of his life in Sing Sing Prison, a gigantic counterfeiting plot, the tentacles of which extended over many States, has been uncovered by a score of Secret Service agents here.

The master mind of the plot and ten of his accomplices have been arrested after $50,000 in spurious ten dollar Boston Federal Reserve Bank notes were put in circulation throughout the country.

Gennaro Lambiase is alleged to be the brains in this plot, the ramifications of which read like pages from a dime novel.

The counterfeiting plant which Lambiase is said to have set up was not a hastily constructed, quickly thought out affair. For years it was planned—one dupe—a handy young artisan being sent to an engraving school where for several years he studied photo engraving, that he might be used in the scheme.

RELEASED IN 1918.

The arrest of the men is believed by federal authorities to have broken up the gang—the most daring and able band of counterfeiters in modern times, according to the Secret Service men. And when arrested, all save one were able to promptly furnish $10,000 bail and are now at liberty pending a formal hearing before the United States commissioner.

Lambiase was released from Sing Sing Prison in 1918 after serving eleven years of a nineteen-year sentence for murder. He was sent up from New York, and after the law had been satisfied, he came to Providence and established himself as head of an "art school."

For three years Lambiase worked industriously and saved his money. He became acquainted with a young weaver, Nazzarene Trillo, who was a skilful artisan. This youth Lambiase finally persuaded to go to Chicago, where he studied photo engraving, becoming skilled in this work.

NOTES WELL PRINTED.

Trillo returned from Chicago and the time was ripe. Others were taken into the plot and a photo engraving and printing plant was equipped with the finest machinery and materials.

Almost a year ago spurious Boston Federal Reserve notes of $10 denomination began appearing in New York and other large cities.

The notes were so cleverly executed they defied detection except at the hands of experts.

The secret service operatives on the trail of the counterfeiters were increased in number.

The trail finally led to Providence, although the counterfeit money was never passed in Providence or Boston—always in New York or Philadelphia. The men believed to be in the plot were all of Neapolitan extraction and the secret service men sent to Providence were all men who spoke Italian fluently—would, in fact, pass for native Italians.

The first good fortune the Federal detectives encountered was when the counterfeiters had a quarrel among themselves and the gang split up. Those who were forced from the gang were paid $50 each—as "hush money"—but they knew nothing further of the gang's activities.

The government agents suspected Lambiase of being the head of the gang.

Finally, when the last link in the chain of evidence against the men was forged, the trap was sprung.

BACK BAY GIRL HURT IN CRASH OF AUTO

Ella Hunt, twenty-six years old, of the Hotel Kenmore, Back Bay, was injured early today, when she was thrown out of an automobile as it hit a pole in Huntington avenue. She was taken to the City Hospital where she was treated for a lacerated cut of the chin. After treatment she was taken to her hotel by friends.

The automobile was registered according to the Back Bay police in the name of John F. Fitzgerald, Jr., of Dorchester. Police were unable to ascertain who the driver of the car was, as he was taken away by friends after the accident. It is believed he was injured.

HUSBAND A COWARD, HIS CHARGES BASELESS, CRIES POLLY DAY

RETORTS TO $100,000 BALM SUIT

Declares Banker Tannfield Just a Good, Decent Friend of Hers

New York, July 23.—"My husband is a coward. That is my answer to his baseless charge."

Sitting up straight in the office of her attorney, Eli Johnson, Polly Day, formerly of the Music Box Revue, uttered these words angrily.

Her husband, Gayle Burlingame, theatrical producer, had instructed his lawyer to begin a $100,000 action suit against Stanley W. Tannfield, London banker, on his charges, stole the affections of Polly.

Bitterness against her husband and "men in general" was plainly apparent as Polly talked.

TEARS FOR PARENTS.

Once during the interview she lost this hardness. That was when she mentioned her parents, admittedly poor, but not denied by their daughter, whose beauty landed her in the front row of one of Broadway's shows. She said:

"My husband has shown an insane desire to hurt me."

Her voice choked, as tears came to her eyes. A sob, and then:

"I don't claim blue blood is in my veins, but you can tell Gayle Burlingame that there is plenty of good red blood there, and before he is through with defaming his wife he'll know it."

Gone was the managers' favorite weakness. Polly was again her own real self.

Johnson interposed to say that she had engaged him to sue for a separation. He was interrupted by Polly, who said:

"In there no way by which a wife can sue her husband for defamation of character? Gayle certainly has defamed me."

DOESN'T WANT DIVORCE

Of a possible divorce Polly said:

"I have no grounds for a divorce. I don't want one. But I'll never be happy until I am legally separated from that coward."

"He has brought in the name of Mr. Tannfield and knows very well I have not looked or seen Tanny for over a year and a half. He knew of my friendship for him and instead of being horrified as he claims, encouraged me and said it was perfectly all right.

"In due time the truth of my friendship for Mr. Tannfield will come out. That time will be in the courts.

"It may possibly show that my husband refused to support me, that I was actually forced to earn my own living, that if it hadn't been for Tanny I might have been destitute. Who knows?

"JUST A GOOD FRIEND"

When informed that Mrs. Tannfield in St. Louis, had admitted knowledge of her husband's acquaintance with Polly, the latter quickly replied:

"Why, certainly, the whole world knows I'm a friend. There was nothing to be ashamed of, there is nothing criminal in a married woman having masculine friends, is there?" And that was all Tanny was—just a good friend. But my husband tries to put an evil meaning to this friendship."

Polly gave her reasons for leaving Burlingame, she said:

"My husband's Turkish idea concerning wives forced me to leave him. He who boasted of not being jealous turned out to be a veritable ogre of the green-eyed species. I had to account for every minute of my day, every telephone call, every letter."

Beaten in Auto

EDITH BLACK.
Melrose girl who was beaten up and thrown out by motorists who had given her a lift in the Fellaway, Malden.

MAN APPEALS KIDNAPING SENTENCE

For kidnaping Miss Edith Black after he had given her a ride in his automobile, Alvin T. Whittier of No. 102 Lynde street, Melrose, is under sentence of nine months in jail.

He has appealed, however, and will fight the case in the Superior Court.

There were three counts against him, charging him with kidnaping, threats and attempted attack. He was sentenced by Judge Riley in Malden Court.

Miss Black, who also lives in Melrose, charged that on the morning of June 26 Whittier offered to give her a lift from Melrose to Boston. On the Fellaway in Medford, she testified, he stopped the car, threatened her, and that when she said she would have him arrested,

She was thrown out of the machine, the girl added, and when she recovered consciousness, she had a bad scalp wound, in which four stitches were taken later.

Two months before the kidnaping incident, Miss Black had Whittier in court for annoying her.

EX-WIFE FIGHTS FOR THORNE'S MILLION

Settlement of Suit Involving Child Hinges on Where Millionaire Died

New York, July 23.—Surrogate Foley has adjourned until July 31 the hearing on the application of Mrs. Mary Casey Thorne to be appointed guardian of her son, Joel Wolfe Thorne, Jr., nine, and custodian of the $1,000,000 estate willed to him by his father.

Thorne was killed recently by an automobile near his country home at Millbrook.

The adjournment will enable the executors of the estate to submit to the Surrogate on the adjourned date proof that Thorne died a resident of Dutchess County.

Charles Mellen, attorney for the executors, held that Surrogate Foley had no jurisdiction. He also maintained that, as the court had found against Mrs. Thorne in Thorne's divorce action, she was unfit to be her son's guardian.

John J. Kirby, attorney for Mrs. Thorne, contended that although Thorne had received the custody of the child when he got his decree, the custody ceased with his death and reverted back to the mother.

MOB PURSUES MAN ACCUSED BY GIRL

Accused by a fifteen-year-old girl of endeavoring to attack her in a crowded Geneva avenue trolley car, Lawrence Morgan of Somerville, was chased by a mob and was rescued from them by police reserves from the Dudley street station.

The girl, Minnie Kline of No. 134 Popular street, had been wedged in the crowd close to Morgan, she said. When the car stopped at Grove Hall and several passengers alighted she got space to pull away from him.

She then cried out and hysterically accused Morgan of advances.

Morgan, it is alleged, leaped from the car. Frank Oldroid, in charge of the trolley, led a crowd in pursuit for half a mile before Morgan was captured. The arrival of the police saved him from rough handling at the hands of the mob.

Morgan was given a hearing today.

TROOPS GUARD JAIL AFTER LYNCH THREAT

Mound City, Ill., July 23. (I.N.S.)—Fearful of a lynching, Brigadier-General Hunting, of the Illinois National Guard, arrived today from Cairo. A heavy detachment of troops was placed around the jail in front of which more than a thousand persons had gathered with the evident purpose of storming the jail and lynching several Negroes held as suspects in the slaying of eighteen-year-old Daisy Wilson at Villa Ridge. Miss Wilson was killed defending her father, who had been attacked by the negroes.

Murphysboro, Ill., July 23. (I.N.S.)—Sheriff Hudson, who arrived here with the negro suspects, whom he had spirited away from Mound City, Ill., is continued to Chester, where he expected to place the negroes in the Southern Illinois prison.

PLOT AGAINST RAIL MEN IS CHARGED

Pittsburgh, July 23.—Three officials of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company and two officers of railroad brotherhoods were held by a justice of the peace, after a hearing on charges brought by a former engineer, who alleged that they conspired to deprive railroad employes of their seniority rights under the Chicago agreement, it became known.

E. MOODY BOYNTON HAS 84TH BIRTHDAY

Newburyport, July 23.—Moody Boynton, inventor of the "bicycle railway" and various other ingenious things, received many congratulations on his eighty-fourth birthday.

Mr. Boynton has lived in Massachusetts seventy-two years. His home here contains nineteen rooms and was built in 1839 by William Sewall, ancestor of a number of State chief justices.

VOLCANO THROWS ASHES HIGH IN AIR

Hilo, T. H., July 23 (A. P.).—The lava display at Kilauea volcano, which started Saturday, continues with increased volume in spectacular style. The lake of liquid fire appears to be spreading. An avalanche crashed from the rim wall with a roar, the resulting tremendous dust cloud shooting thousands of feet high.

AMETHYSTINE WINS IRISH OAKS STAKES

The Curragh, Ireland, July 23.—(By A. P.)—Amethystine, by Hainault, dam by Lesterlin out of Cairngorm, owned by Lady Nunburnholme, won the Irish Oaks Stakes of £3,800, run here today. J. D. McCaulay's Voltot was second and Mrs. A. Beford's Arganthe was third. Eight ran.

FLIERS SWITCH TO LONG HOP TO ICELAND

Abandon Faroe Islands Route for Open Sea, Leave Aug. 1

Washington, July 23.—The world fliers of the United States Army will leave Kirkwall, Scotland on August 1 on their Trans-Atlantic leap, according to the schedule announced by the War Department today.

They probably will reach Labrador about ten days later and Boston, their first stop in the United States since leaving Seattle, around August 16.

The entire schedule, it was stated, is only tentative, as much depends upon weather conditions and the state of equipment.

The Trans-Atlantic flight from Kirkwall to Iceland will cover 830 miles over open water. Previous plans to make the leap by way of the Faroe Islands, 275 miles from Kirkwall, have been abandoned in favor of the longer hop. The fliers will proceed to Kirkwall, from Brugh, England, where they are now putting finishing touches in shape.

From Iceland, there is a comparatively short jump of 280 miles to the east coast of Greenland. Then the aviators will cross to the west coast and then to Labrador.

Curley Wants World Fliers Here for G. A. R. Convention

The American aviators who are making the around-the-world flight and who will return to American soil via historic Boston, are expected during convention week of the Grand Army of the Republic, August 10-16.

Steps in this direction have been taken by Mayor Curley, chairman of the executive committee of the national encampment, who has written to the officials of the air service at Washington, asking that the schedule be so arranged that this plan be made possible.

To have the American aviators land here during the G. A. R. convention, when the city is thronged with 40,000 visitors, would enable Boston to give to the history making airmen a rousing reception, and add a great feature to convention week, the mayor believes.

On behalf of the city the mayor will present to each of the aviators a silk flag, the captain of the air craft Boston, one of the ships in the round-the-world flight, will receive the official flag of the city. No other town will be asked to accept a silk American flag.

NEW $300,000 JUNIOR HIGH FOR WINTHROP

Work will soon be started on the construction of the new $300,000 Junior High School for Winthrop on Harmon street, corner of School street.

The structure will be three stories high, of "collegiate Gothic" style and will contain 40 class rooms with a capacity for 970 pupils. One of the features of the structure is that it may be doubled in size by extending it symmetrically to the left of the entrance tower on School street.

Starling Burgesses of Beverly Farms Colony Visiting Canada

By BETTY ALDEN

ONE of society's busiest members is Mrs. W. Starling Burgess, who is just now enjoying a trip to Canada with Mr. Burgess.

To the world of art Mrs. Burgess is known as Rosamond Tudor, and her charming studio, tucked away in the woods at Beverly Farms, is one of the most interesting places along the Shore. There the talented wife of Mr. Burgess, whose inventive genius is so well known, holds her art classes during the Summer months. Once or twice a year an exhibition of Mrs. Burgess' paintings is held at the studio, and then all the North Shore and others as well—come to see her latest achievements.

Recently this gifted artist had the distinction of being made a member of the staff of portrait painters of the Ferargil Gallery in New York, a group composed of but six persons.

Among the most recently finished of Rosamond Tudor's canvasses are two portraits of little Richard and Wendell Lloyd, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nichols of the year-round colony at the Farms.

APROPOS of Beverly Farms, Mr. and Mrs. Reed P. Anthony are spending the warm months at "House on the Ledge," the Farms estate of Mr. Anthony's mother, Mrs. Randolph Frothingham. The house is perched high up on the rocks and commands a superb view of the waters and the islands.

The Anthonys, who were of the Marblehead colony last season, are being warmly welcomed by the younger married set of the Farms.

ONE of the most important booths at the rainbow fete which society is staging Saturday at Magnolia will be the one for flowers, fruits, vegetables and preserves.

Presiding over this stand will be Mrs. Armistead R. Baylor of the New York colony at Ipswich, whose assistants include Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Jr., Mrs. George E. Barnard and Mrs. John C. Ellsworth.

"Blynman Farm," the William H. Coolidge estate, will be the scene of the fete which is to benefit the Boston Children's Friend Society. Those in charge have planned a colorful program for the afternoon and evening, including bridge and mah jong, tea and dance, "grabs" and a Punch and Judy show, as well as a sale of all sorts of tempting articles.

MRS. VALENTINE HOLLINGSWORTH
Boston society woman whose Winter home is on Marlborough street and Summer at Beverly Farms is spending a portion of the season at York Harbor. She is in charge of a bridge and mah jong party to be held Friday at the Maine resort for the benefit of disabled ex-service men.

Society Notes

Mrs. Wheaton B. Byers is of the recent Boston arrivals at the Pickwick Arms in Greenwich, Ct.

Final matches of the polo tournament which opened on the North Shore Saturday will be held at 3:30 this afternoon at "Princemere," the Wenham estate of Frederick H. Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Newbold (Katherine Hubbard) of "Apple Orchard," Beverly Farms, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, their fourth child. The newcomer has been named Leroy Coolidge Newbold.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Parker and their young family are visiting the mother's parents, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William G. Thayer of Southboro, at "Holiday Hill," the Thayer Summer place at Ipswich. Last year Mr. and Mrs. Parker occupied the place alone.

HERRIOT DEFIES U. S. BANKERS AND OTHERS

London, July 23 (I. N. S.).—Bankers who propose to float a $200,000,000 loan for Germany, continued to hold out today for better security than they consider the allied conference agreements give them, and Premier Herriot threatened to return to Paris unless the bankers compromise.

"As between the loan to Germany and the Versailles treaty, I will choose the treaty," Herriot was reported to have told Thomas W. Lamont, Morgan representative.

The bankers do not want the reparations committee to have full power to declare Germany in default and to enact sanctions, feeling that such a course would jeopardize their chance of collecting on the bonds.

The French insist on the treaty provisions that reparations commission is the body to declare a default and to fix sanctions. They guarantee that such sanctions would be applied to the loan, but the bankers point out that, as in the case of the Ruhr occupation, there may be a deficit in any attempt to get sanctions.

ART O'BRIEN, IRISH LEADER, IS FREED

London, July 23 (A.P.). — Art O'Brien, former president of the Gaelic League in London, who was sentenced on July 6, 1923, to two years for seditious conspiracy, and Sean McGrath were released from prison today.

OLD-AGE PLAN MAY GO ON BALLOT

Wendell P. Thore Heads Committee of Eagles Backing the Referendum

Wendell P. Thore of Squantum is head of a committee of the Fraternal Order of Eagles fighting for adoption of a system of non-contributory old age pensions.

Secretary of State Cook has been notified by the Eagles committee that it desires to have this question of public policy placed on the ballot at the next State election so that the attitude of the voters of the State be made clear to the lawmakers.

As now indicated the form of the referendum question will be: "Shall the representative or senator from this district be instructed to vote for non-contributory old age pensions so as to have the Commonwealth pension its deserving needy citizens, women over 60 years of age and men over 65 years, such pensions to be provided under such other necessary rules and regulations as the general Court shall make?"

SLAYER FELLS GUARD AND ESCAPES JAIL

Baltimore, Md., July 23.—George Gross, one of the four youths convicted last month for the murder of Louis Cohen, Baltimore jeweler, felled his guard and escaped from the city jail today. In making his escape Gross stole a pistol from the guard and then jumped over the jail wall. Robert Emerson, the guard, was knocked in the head with an iron bar and then locked in the escaped man's cell. In making his escape Gross had to force three locks.

MAN WHO SHOT EVERETT GIRL IS DYING

Charlestown Man's Former Sweetheart Recovering at Hospital

Unrequited love drove Edward J. Cotter of No. 206 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, to shoot Miss Helen Skinner of Everett and then turn his gun upon himself.

The girl is recovering from a bullet wound in the back at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Cotter is dying.

According to the girl's family, she had not seen Cotter for over a year. At the time of their parting a year ago, she told her former sweetheart she did not wish to see him again.

Miss Skinner, stenographer with the John Hancock Life Insurance Company, had just returned from her vacation. It is thought Cotter accidentally met the girl recently and his old love flamed up.

A letter found in his pocket's read: "My friend: I was the one who telephoned at 1 o'clock. I telephoned again at 2 o'clock and again at 3. I am the mysterious phone man."

At Miss Skinner's home, No. 11 Myrtle street, Everett, no telephone message had been received, the family said.

According to neighbors who witnessed the double shooting at the corner of Vernal and Dowse streets, Everett, Cotter had been laying in wait for Miss Skinner for some time.

Faenza, Italy—The seismographs at the Observatory of Raphael Bandiandi recorded today a violent earth shock continuing two hours. The disturbance was estimated to be 6,000 miles away.

Expert Tells How to Save Lives of Persons Saved From Water

GROUP OF YOUNGSTERS PROTECTED BY VOLUNTEERS

Captain Jack Wallace, Red Cross instructor in life saving methods, has written the following for the readers of the Boston American in training the volunteer members of the Boston American Life Saving Corps, organized to protect bathers at Greater Boston beaches.

By CAPTAIN JACK WALLACE
Instructor in Life Saving, Boston Metropolitan Chapter, American Red Cross.

Many people believe that death from drowning is caused by the water swallowed by the victim. This belief is erroneous. The real cause is asphyxiation. Asphyxiation is the result of the blocking of the supply of good air to the lungs and the inability to throw off the bad air from the lungs.

To understand readily how this blocking occurs one must know something of the protection afforded to the windpipe by the little trap-door called the epiglottis.

The function of this trap-door is to close the opening from the mouth into the windpipe so that food or water passing on the way to the stomach will not go down this passage.

SWALLOWS BUT LITTLE.

The common experience of "swallowing the wrong way," is the failure of this little organ to close in time to prevent the entrance into the windpipe of anything but air.

In the case of the drowning person little, if any, water gets into the windpipe. What happens is that when the water touches the epiglottis an automatic closing of the top of the windpipe is caused.

This results in shutting off the flow of air to and from the lungs. The bad air is trapped in the lungs and soon renders the victim unconscious.

The tendency of a person in swimming who chokes after swallowing a mouthful of water is to leave the horizontal swimming position and come into a vertical position. In the latter position it is almost impossible for a person to stay afloat.

A drowning person loses his head and attempts to claw his way to the surface of the water. Generally the victim raises his arms out of water. This tends to submerge the body all the more for the normal body floats only when mostly under water.

The struggles of the drowning person are accompanied by choking in a vain effort to breathe. The final attempt to breathe, usually under water, results in the complete closure of the windpipe and unconsciousness rapidly follows.

A person choking in the water should turn over on his back and float, or scull with the hands, while coughing up the water.

When a person is brought to shore unconscious, do not waste time trying to get the water out by rolling him over a barrel. Any water that has been swallowed will be in the stomach where it will not do any great harm.

MAY TAKE SOMETIME.

Place him face downward and start resuscitation immediately. Send bystanders for a doctor. Remember that drowning is asphyxiation and that artificial respiration, if applied soon enough, should start the victim breathing again.

Don't be discouraged if results are not immediate. It may be necessary to continue for three or four hour. Slow, hard pressure on the soft part of the patient's back will expel the bad air. Sudden release of the pressure will suck in good air.

The victim breathing, at first artificial, should eventually become natural."

CHINESE TANGLE HAS OFFICIALS MYSTIFIED

The "Mystery of Oxford street" or "Who is Moy Lip Kim?" confounds Federal immigration officials and may end in the arrest of one or more residents of Chinatown on charges of violations of the Immigration laws.

According to the story told through an interpreter before Judge Lowell in United States court today, Moy Goon Foo and May Goon Foy seek entrance to this country on the ground that they are the foreign-born sons of Moy Lip Kim, a native born American citizen, now dead.

The boys recently arrived at the East Boston immigration station from China. Their father, after receiving a certificate of his citizenship at Burlington, Vt., in 1898 went to China and settled down to spend his last days in the land of his forebears. Both sons were born there.

Down in Oxford street in the heart of old Chinatown resides another Moy Lip Kim. He possesses a citizenship certificate purporting to have been issued to "May Lip Kim" in Burlington, Vt., in 1898. He scouts the story of the death of "Moy Lip Kim" and presents himself in living proof of what he says.

The Oxford street Kim already had two sons admitted to this country on the strength of his citizenship and he is now seeking to gain the admission of a third son now held at East Boston.

Then along comes May Young of Chinatown with the declaration that he is a brother of the dead Moy Lip Kim, father of the boys Moy Foo and Moy Foy.

Judge Lowell listened to the uncle's story then released the two in bonds of $2,000. Their cases were continued for four months while immigration officials wrestle in Chinatown with the mystery.

R. I. OFFICIALS VIEW HOTEL REGISTER

Rutland, July 22.—The register at the Hotel Bartlet, where Republican members of the Rhode Island Senate have been in "exile" for the past month, has finally given up its secrets to the Rhode Island authorities.

Assistant Attorney-General George Hurley of Rhode Island, in company with Captain Charles A. Parker of the Massachusetts State Constabulary, visited the hotel and after a brief parley, Captain Parker was given the register.

The Rhode Island authorities, according to their announcement, are anxious to check up on the movements of Thomas Lally and Matthew J. McGovern, named in connection with the gas bomb plot in the Rhode Island Senate. It is intimated that these men in their confessions said they visited the hotel where the Republican senators are quartered.

Ralph S. Bartlett, representing the proprietor of the hotel where the G. O. P. leaders are housed, made strenuous objections to turning the register over to the Rhode Island official, but Captain Parker insisted on seeing the book and the matter ended there. Captain Parker refused to make any statement and refused to discuss last Saturday night's affair when Rhode Island officials were forced to furnish bail after being taken into custody by Massachusetts State police.

WOMAN BOUND AND ROBBED; HOME FIRED

Five Lives Are Imperilled by Burglars, Who Escape With Only $70

Syracuse, N. Y., July 23.—The entire Syracuse police department was mobilized today in an attempt to trace two burglars who forced an entrance to the Lenox apartment house, bound and gagged Miss Frances Stabb, thirty-four, and after taking a small sum of money from her room set fire to the house.

The lives of Miss Stabb and four roomers in the house were endangered as the flames swept through the apartment, and in trying to rescue the people several firemen were overcome by gas fumes and narrowly escaped death.

Miss Stabb awoke to find two masked men conversing in low tones and she screamed, but the sound was not heard by other roomers.

She was then gagged and bound hand and foot, and the men took $70 in rent money in an adjoining room.

"We must cover up our tracks," Miss Stabb heard one of them say as they left, and she saw no more of them.

In a few minutes she saw smoke curl under the bedroom door. She worked her way across the floor and into the hallway in an attempt to waken the other roomers. Her moans finally were heard and she was carried out. She was removed to a hospital suffering severely from shock.

Mussolini Orders Fascists to End All Violence

Naples, July 23 (I.N.S.).—Premier Mussolini today sounded the death knell of violence in Fascism, in an address to the Fascisti Great Council.

"The new order for Fascists is hands-in-the-pockets," he said. "The party must be purified."

"They are powerless," he declared. "The militia will take the oath to the King, but it will continue to defend the Fascisti government. The government which conquered by revolution will not renounce the revolution."

Girl Keeping Ring Still Engaged, Judge Rules

New York, July 23.—Girls who really want to break off their engagements should give back the engagement ring, Magistrate Llota ruled here in dismissing the case against William Head who was charged with pressing his attentions on Miss Katherine Moloney after her love for him had failed.

When Head testified he was under the impression the girl was going to marry him since she kept the ring, the judge gave his weighty decision.

Worcester, July 23.—Mrs. Mae Gray of Worcester filed a petition in Probate Court asking that Thomas Gray, a Worcester man, be ordered to appear in court to show why he should not be adjudged in contempt for alleged failure to pay her $18 weekly that had been ordered for the support of herself and her child.

CHAUFFEUR FOR MRS. BASS IS FINED $25

Former Governor of New Hampshire Attends Hearing in East Cambridge Court

Former Governor Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire appeared in East Cambridge Court today when Mrs. Bass's chauffeur, John E. Lynch, of Chicago, was arraigned on charges of failing to give another motorist the right of way when she was entitled to it.

The Bass automobile was in collision on Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, with an automobile driven by Mrs. Linnia McLaren of Tewksbury. Mrs. Mary L. Pritchard of Tewksbury, who was in the McLaren car, was seriously injured.

Police charged that the Bass chauffeur had no license with him, that he failed to sound his horn at an intersecting street and that he failed to give the right of way.

On the first charge the court placed the case on file. On the failure to sound a horn, a fine of $5 was imposed, and for failing to give the right of way Lynch was assessed $20.

EACH SHIP BLAMES THE OTHER FOR BOSTON-SWIFT ARROW CRASH

FEDERAL PROBERS AT WORK TO FIX RESPONSIBILITY

tain A. W. Fell, in actual command of the Boston, were as follows:

"When the Swift Arrow approached in the fog she blew three blasts on the whistle, otherwise as law, which requires those blasts in an emergency. We sounded four whistles, to indicate astern, then ran at top speed ahead and sent bill."

Gomez and his third mate flatly denied Captain Smith's story and said that the tanker was well astern in her lights and that the real seamanship was on the other ship.

In view of the antagonistic statements of some surviving members of the crew and officers of the Boston did not meet the emergency as well as they should have. It was indicated today that the investigation would concern itself not only with the blame for the actual collision, but with the actions of the two crews as well.

STOOD BY AFTERWARDS.

In that connection, no one blames the Swift Arrow for anything after the crash. It is admitted by the Eastern Steamship Company that she stood by, took off passengers picked up lifeboats and did everything in her power to help.

Alvin Pearson, a newspaper artist from Kansas City, was one of those to criticize the personnel of the Boston's crew. He said:

"Ship's officers, immediately after the shock of the collision, passed along rear of the saloon, warning the people. We never saw officers. We separated ourselves of the boats and dropped the women and children into them. Some of the men got into each boat and we tried to supply a couple of seamen to do the rowing.

"After we were clear, managing affairs of the Herman Post, who was a passenger on the Boston, said this of the way the work was handled: 'The Boston carried probably the finest and most formidable life saving equipment of any ship plying the ocean. No Atlantic liner could show one.

"Yet, based on what actually happened, when the emergency came, this equipment was not worth ten cents. The Boston, it was plain to see, had not provided even ordinarily competent men to handle this equipment.

"The items of life saving equipment should now be totally useless if the Boston had sunk inside of an hour, as she might have. What saved the passengers was the staunch construction of the ship, and secondly, the distance from the point she struck she was cruising."

"TOOK LONG TIME."

"There was no lack of discipline among the Boston officers and crew," added to this note. It is absurd to criticize the personnel of the Boston's crew. He said:

"Officers and men were seeing bus line in Boston, said on arriving in New York: 'The whole thing was terribly mismanaged. If the boat had sunk rapidly we would all have been lost.'

PRAISES CREW.

Charles H. Taylor of the Boston Globe, who was aboard the Boston, said:

"The officers of the Boston in charge of the boat-deck, who lowered the boats into the water, did their work efficiently, although there was some delay owing to the meanness of the tackle. The fortunate ending and the fact that all were rescued was due largely to the fact that passengers and crew kept their heads and there was no confusion.

"Too much cannot be said for the way in which the officers and crew of the various boats which took the passengers from the scene treated the rescued passengers.

"The officers and crew of the Swift Arrow were also most hospitable and did everything in their power to assist those who had been brought on board after the disaster."

BOSTON FOLK ESCAPE DEATH IN SHIP CRASH

WERE RIGHT IN DANGER ZONE

Mr. and Mrs. William Lyman of Montclair, N. J., with their son, William, Jr., occupied stateroom 46, adjoining the staterooms occupied by the four persons who were killed when the S. S. Boston was struck by a tanker.

HUB GIRLS HAPPY AFTER THEIR RESCUE

They were picked up by the Fall River liner Priscilla and taken to New York. Insets at left are, top, C. W. Howard of Somerville, below Mrs. C. W. Howard, who was also saved in the rammed liner. bernecker trips to the scene of the wreck and to the vicinity of the Boston.

Most of the passengers taken off had left Newport and either returned to Boston or proceeded to New York by train.

The four dead, as finally identified were Charles L. Copeland of No. 11 Colburne Crescent, Brookline; Mrs. Oscar Green of Brooklyn, a bride of five weeks; Robert P. Schlemm of No. 53 Longfellow road, Wellesley Hills, and John P. Schlemm, his brother, of New York.

RUBBERNECK TRIPS.

The Boston remained tied up in Newport, R. I., today, with men working on the stateroom decks, clearing away the wreckage.

Although all the passengers apparently have been accounted for, the rumor persisted that the men expected to find more dead when the debris was penetrated.

The ship will probably be up for the season. Divers have made a preliminary inspection below the water line to determine how many hull plates were sprung. When she has been made fit for the trip she will be conveyed to Boston for permanent repair work.

Boat owners in the vicinity of Newport, R. I., were making an honest penny today by running rubberneck trips in the harbor.

LINER BOSTON INSPECTED AT BALTIMORE

"I have every reason to believe the steamship Boston lifeboats were properly equipped," said Captain H. W. Parker, in charge of the Federal Steamship Inspection Service in this city today.

"The Boston was inspected by Federal inspectors at Baltimore in June just before she sailed for Boston for service. She came here with a certificate of inspection good for one year.

"Shortly after her arrival my men and I made a casual inspection, but did not make a detailed inspection of the lifeboat equipment as we had no reason to believe the Baltimore inspection had not been thorough.

"The investigation now being conducted by Inspectors R. B. Clark and Richard Bailey of the Providence board, in whose jurisdiction the accident occurred, will reveal the facts. Even if I were a civilian I would not reply to the criticisms that have been made while an investigation is under way.

"Captain O. G. Haines, supervising inspector of the Fifth District, was in Newport, R. I., today for purposes of investigation.

"If the inspectors have reason to believe any of the Federal laws may have been violated by any officers of either craft a hearing will be conducted to determine where the blame lies.

"Under the Federal laws steamship companies are required to drill crews of every vessel weekly and the mate of the Boston was particularly efficient in that regard.

"The law also requires that every lifeboat shall carry a lantern with oil enough in it to burn nine hours, also an extra gallon of oil, a box of friction matches, a water-tight can containing a dozen distress signals in the form of red light torches, each of which burns at least two minutes, and a quart of water for each person in the lifeboat."

and put her about for Rockland again.

The steam lighter Sophia, which was in the vicinity, stood by until the passengers were all safe.

At first it was feared here that the accident was more serious than it proved to be, and the tug Sonny N. Smith was ordered out to help the distressed Morse. F. S. Sherman, superintendent of the Bangor division of the Eastern Steamship Company, went out to the ledge and after a look around reported that when she was floated she be brought back to this port.

The Westport, in drydock in Boston, was ordered to be at Rockland tomorrow morning to replace the Morse if that liner is unable to make her regular run.

EXILES ASK U. S. TO LET 11 ORPHANS IN

Cherbourg, France, July 23—Hopeless despair seized a number of Russian exiles lodged since last October in the Atlantic Hotel here when they learned that only about twenty of them would be authorized to leave for the United States. The exiles, of whom there are about 300 drew up a petition to the American government asking that eleven girl orphans without relatives except in the United States, might be allowed to leave first.

R. R. MEN PROTEST LABOR BOARD RULE

Chicago, July 23.—General chairmen of firemen and enginemen on nearly all railroads west of Chicago convened today with national officers to determine procedure against assumption of jurisdiction by the Railroad Labor Board over their wage dispute with the railroad managements.

L. G. Griffing, grand chief of Engineers and firemen, and D. B. Robertson, president of Firemen and Enginemen, were present. If they vote to ignore subpoenas issued by the board and absent themselves from the scheduled hearing Thursday, the board probably will invoke the aid of the United States District Court.

CRASH VICTIM, UNAWARE SHE IS KILLED, CALLS FOR BRIDE

DELIRIUM FOLLOWS COLLISION

Couple Were on Way Back to New York After Honeymoon Trip to Hub

In delirium, his body pain-racked by a score of hurts, Oscar Green, New York theatrical manager, confined at the home of his brother, Harry Green at No. 94 Harrison street, Roxbury, calls constantly for his wife, Rose.

The New York man does not know that his wife, a bride of seven weeks, is in a morgue at Newport, one of the four victims killed aboard the ill-fated steamer Boston.

The husband was in the stateroom with his wife, when the crash came. His wife called to him feebly, once or twice—this much Green remembers and talks of constantly in his delirium.

COMES TO BOSTON.

Green, partially conscious, was rescued from the stateroom in which his wife was found dead. He was taken to Fall River on a rescue boat and admitted to a hospital.

Obsessed with the idea that he was to meet his wife in Boston he insisted on being given his clothing, and in a semi-conscious condition, made his way here. His condition is so serious that members of the family and physicians attending him are afraid to tell him his wife is dead—they fear the blow would either kill him or destroy his reason.

BRIDE AN ACTRESS.

Mrs. Green was an actress—her maiden name was Rose Silbert. She was 21 years of age—the daughter of a prominent New York actor and producer. Green, thirty-two, is manager of the Hopkinson Theatre in New York, and the couple were concluding their honeymoon when denial intervened.

In New York the parents of the girl were at the dock to meet the boat bearing the hundreds of survivors from the Boston.

WRECK VICTIMS REUNITED IN NEW YORK

Mrs. Philip Isner and her month-old baby, Lillian, were rescued from one of the Boston's lifeboats by men of the Swift Arrow, which rammed the liner. Mr. Isner was taken aboard the tanker from another lifeboat. It was not until all were transferred to the Fall River boat Priscilla that they were reunited, with a relative of Mr. Isner.

NUNS HEROINES OF CRASH ON S. S. BOSTON

Gave First Aid to Victims and Stood by Wrecked Craft

Six Roman Catholic nuns were the real heroines of the hour when the Eastern Steamship Company liner Boston was rammed in the fog-bound waters off Point Judith, R. I.

Until all the other women had been cared for they refused to enter the lifeboats that were being lowered away from the wounded ship.

In the small boats, they continued to encourage the less philosophical members of their sex and to nurse the injured.

S. K. Pake of Worcester, who was painfully injured when he was caught in his berth as the side of the ship crumbled inward, took word of the heroism of the nuns to New York.

They helped attend him in the lifeboat after he was taken aboard the Priscilla of the Fall River line and was on his way to New York.

But there was another heroine. She was an actress, and for those who did not prefer the comforts of religion in the solemn hour of danger, she sang constantly in a wavery soprano, "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More."

Nobody got her name, or the names of the nuns who were for a little while enlisted with her in the fight to keep sanity and avert panic.

Boston People Among List of the Injured

Some of the passengers known to be injured are:

Oscar Green, aged thirty-two, of New York, widower of Mrs. Rose Green, suffered wrenched shoulder, contusions and bruises of face and body and suffered from shock. Condition serious.

"Chick" Miller, pugilist, of No. 171 Huntington avenue, Back Bay, bruised leg.

S. K. Paige, Jr., Winchester, cut of left hand and sprained ankle.

Mrs. Nora McCarthy, Charlestown, right arm injured when thrown from berth.

Hub Moving Picture Men Escape Injury

Apprehension was felt in Boston "movie district" over the safety of a number of officials of film corporations who were on board the stricken steamer, bound for an important business conference in New York.

Not until early today was definite word received from the officials and other film representatives telling of their safe arrival on shore.

Among the motion picture men on the Boston were President Harry Asher of the American Feature Film Company, with offices in this city; Harry Morey, office manager of the American Feature Film Company; William Shanks of the Franklin Film Company; President Harry Seigal of the Pioneer Film Company, and President Sam Moscow of the Moscow Film Company.

News of Mr. Asher's arrival on shore and unharmed was contained in a radio message, received by Edward Goldwyn of the Metro-Goldwyn Pictures. Mr. Goldwyn immediately notified Mrs. Asher and his office.

KEWPIE DOLL PARTS FAMILY IN DISASTER

Newport, R. I., July 23.—Philip G. Mack and family of Hudson avenue, New York City were on the Boston returning from a vacation in New England.

One of Mack's children, a little girl, lost her kewpie doll in the excitement while women and children were being crowded into life boats.

Mr. Mack went in search of the doll and found it in a hurriedly evacuated stateroom, but became separated from his family.

Mrs. Mack and the children went to New York on the Priscilla, and Mack and the doll landed forlorn in Fall River.

FULL CARGO OF OIL CUT DEATH LIST

Newport, R. I., July 23.—Marine authorities who viewed the Boston declared that if the Swift Arrow had not been carrying a full cargo of oil when she rammed the passenger ship, the loss of life would have been greater. They pointed out that if empty, the tanker's prow would be raised about 20 feet higher in the water than it was when she plowed into the Boston, and the tier of staterooms on the upper deck would have been smashed in as were the lower compartments.

NANTASKET BOAT MAN FOUND DEAD

Joseph Brady, 58, employed by the Nantasket Steamboat Company, was found in the hallway of the house at No. 29 Union street, Charlestown, where he had been visiting, and was pronounced dead upon arrival at the Relief Hospital. While death appeared due to natural causes, an autopsy will be performed.

Hero of Crash

E. M. WALTERS

Radio operator on the liner Boston.

A Melrose young man, who stands out as the hero of the ship disaster, declares he had "no story to tell." He is E. M. Walters, radio operator on the Boston. It was Walters who sent out the steamship's signals of distress.

Operators who received them describe them as clear and distinct as if they came from a sound-proof studio.

But Walters says it was all in a day's work. "Nothing happened to me," he repeats, "and as I haven't anything to tell."

Walters lives at No. 56 Howland street, Melrose.

TANKER THAT HIT BOSTON IS GUARDED

Double Patrol Line Placed Around Swift Arrow at Fall River

Fall River, July 23.—The tanker Swift Arrow, which collided with the passenger steamer Boston of the Eastern Steamship Company off Point Judith, came into her berth at the plant of the New England Refining Company.

She was immediately surrounded with a double line of guards and all access to her was forbidden.

Representatives of the company said they would make no statement regarding the collision until they had had an opportunity to talk with her officers.

The Swift Arrow had a large hole in her bow, but it was above the waterline, and she was able to come here under her own power.

FOURTH VICTIM OF CANOE IS FOUND

Bridgeport, Ct., July 23.—The body of Clinton Nordquist, twelve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nordquist, was found floating in Ash Creek today. Ash Creek is about two miles from the place where seven children are believed to have been drowned from a canoe last Thursday.

This is the fourth body to be recovered. Search for the bodies of Peter Bercquist, 14, Alva Nordquist, 12, and Alva Anderson, 14, the other children is still in progress.

S. S. NEW YORK STOOD NEAR THE BOSTON

Steamship New York, sister of the Boston, arrived at its pier here about eight hours late, with 600 passengers who were not aware of the accident to the Boston until after daylight, although the New York had stood by the Boston for more than seven hours.

The New York arrived at the scene one hour after the collision and stood by to help, but was told by wireless that her services were not necessary.

Captain Robert H. Call, who was temporarily in command of the New York, in his report at the company's office, said his command arrived at the scene one hour after the collision and came up to within fifty feet of the Boston when a break of the fog revealed the distressed steamer and its lifeboats filled with passengers and free of the ship.

The fog settled down again and made the picking up of the lifeboats impossible.

The New York remained at anchor and continued wireless communication with the Boston and vessels near, and after all the Boston's lifeboats had been accounted for and the rescued passengers were on their way to land, proceeded for this port.

The New York discharged her passengers and loaded outward freight and sailed for New York on schedule after making the fastest turnabout of any vessel of its size in the history of Boston shipping.

The New York sailed with a capacity number of passengers in spite of the fact that there were a number of cancellations. The cancellations were taken by a number of travelers who were unable to get passage earlier in the day.

Captain H. W. Robinson, regular commander of the New York, went out in command of the steamship

BOSTON IS LAID UP FOR SEASON

The Metropolitan liner Boston, pride of the Eastern Steamship Company, is out of service for the rest of the season after only a few weeks on the Boston-New York run.

The Boston, lying in Newport Harbor with a gaping hole in her side where she was rammed by the oil tanker Swift Arrow, will be out of the service until next year.

Divers have made a preliminary inspection below the water-line to determine how badly her plates were sprung and as soon as all investigations are completed and the Boston has been temporarily repaired, she will be taken to New York and reconditioned.

SLAIN MAN FLED STONEHAM 15 YEARS AGO

Had Written Home Only Once in Adventurous Career Since Boyhood

At the age of fourteen Paul A. Vayo ran away from his home in Stoneham. That was twelve years ago.

Since that time the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vayo, heard of their boy's fortunes only once, from him.

The mystery was solved yesterday when Paul, at the age of 26 years, was found dead in a room in the West Side Y. M. C. A. in Providence, R. I., a victim of a bullet wound.

To the Providence police, who found in the dead man's room a letter from his mother, he was known as Paul Vayo.

Back in Stoneham, Mr. and Mrs. Vayo, who have a grocery store, were notified of their son's death.

Paul left home, they said, because he was "tired of working in the store."

BOY FINDS CAVE OF BANDITS IN WORCESTER

Believed to Be Hiding Place of Band Which Has Been Robbing Autoists

Worcester, July 23.—What is believed to be a secret cave of automobile bandits who have been terrifying occupants of automobiles in the suburbs of this city during the months was discovered by Vito Cinanilo, a six-year-old boy, in a field in the Five Square section.

The bandits' cave, covered over, was equipped with an old stove and dishes with which to cook their meals, and boxes, empty once and filled with loot.

In reporting his find to his father, the youngster said that what looked like "a lot of money" were scattered about the cave. The money was found to be the proceeds of recent robberies.

The money was turned over to the police, who are now trying to find the owners.

Soda Fountain Probers Find False Labels

Patrons Defrauded by Substitution of Bogus Signs and Insanitary Conditions in Many Boston Shops Where Soft Drinks Are Dispensed

He who pays for vanilla ice cream soda should get vanilla, not vanillin or vanillate.

That is one of the ideas back of the drive the pure food division of the Boston Board of Health is making on soda fountain proprietors who do not give their customers a square deal.

In the first place, the customer is cheated, for the imitation is cheaper, else it wouldn't be used; in the second place, the substitute is likely to be injurious.

The labels on the soda fountain read "strawberry" or "vanilla" or "sarsaparilla," but do not always mean that is what the purchaser gets.

Substitution, next to uncleanliness, is the most serious problem confronting the inspectors who are engaged in forcing all the soda fountain men to be as sanitary as most of them undoubtedly want to be.

Some very unsanitary practices prevail in some soda fountain, soft drink and ice cream stores. It is not always the showy place that has the purest product.

Verdigris is common in a certain class of soft drink. A recent tour of inspection resulted in the following report (names of the proprietors eliminated):

REPORTS CONDITIONS.

Store No. 1, West End—Paper cups which had been put in were exposed on counter in such a way as to attract dust and filth; ordered destroyed. Glasses in use unlawfully, there being no hot water in the place.

Store No. 2, West End—Fountain and syrup containers filthy. Chocolate syrup decomposed. Ordered thrown away. Glasses in use, being washed in stagnant cold water. Paper cups in the place, but the proprietor was refusing to waste them.

Store No. 3, North End—Verdigris under ice cream covers. Ordered to replace wooden refuse containers with a metal one.

Store No. 4, West End—Only a tumbler washer in which to clean glasses. In very slimy condition. Ordered to install paper cups.

Store No. 5, South End—Visible surfaces clean, but verdigris in syrup containers.

Store No. 6, North End—Very bad. Sink filled with stagnant water and filmed with kerosene. No hot water connection. Covers of wooden ice cream cabinet caked with an accumulation of foreign matter.

Store No. 8, South End—Inside of fountain coated with dark green scum. Sample taken by the inspector for analysis. Remainder of contents destroyed.

Store No. 9, South End—Entire premises in filthy condition. Bad odors from fountain, an old model. Chocolate syrup decomposed.

Store No. 10, near the waterfront—Verdigris in milk purips and syrup containers.

REVERE SITUATION.

It is of note that conditions found in Revere are not as bad as those uncovered in the Boston investigation although Dr. Joseph E. Lamb, chief health officer of that city, is keeping his inspector on the job.

In Revere they have a simple, nontechnical set of rules and they try to see that they are enforced. They demand that where glasses are used they be sterilized daily in hot water containing a 2 per cent. solution of soft soda. The same applies to all utensils used in the aeration, storage or serving of beverages and food.

Boston health authorities have many more places to keep under surveillance, and problems of their own not shared by Revere, but they are doing their best to bring about the ultimate in cleanliness and sanitary excellence. They mean to make cleanliness pay.

ROSENFELT TO RAISE FUND FOR PROGRESSIVES

La Follette Appoints New York Specialist to Obtain Campaign Cash

Washington, July 24 (Universal Service)—Active work to raise a progressive campaign fund began here today with Henry S. Rosenfelt of New York in charge.

Mr. Rosenfelt, a specialist in raising money, was officially appointed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, progressive candidate for President.

It was agreed that none of the labor unions or other organizations affiliated with the progressive conference will be asked to contribute through Rosenfelt, but will be solicited by their own officials.

CONFERS WITH WHEELER.

La Follette and his running mate, Senator Wheeler, engaged in a conference today concerning various State groups that claim to represent the La Follette movement and may be trying to damage it.

It is stated that in at least three states representatives of "reactionary" Republican and Democratic interests are trying to defeat La Follette followers who bear the label of either one of the old parties by indorsing the progressive ticket for candidates for both houses of Congress.

GUARD AGAINST PLOT.

HUB MAN DROWNS AS CANOE UPSETS

Walter Pine of Sharon street, Boston, was drowned in the Charles River, Dedham, just above the Spring street bridge, when a canoe in which he and two companions were paddling was upset.

The companions were rescued by members of the Samoset Canoe Club life guards, but Pine sank from sight before aid could reach him.

The body was recovered and resuscitation methods were applied to the body for an hour without avail.

AUTOIST DRIVES OFF AFTER HITTING CHILD

NEW SUSPECT HELD IN BOY'S MURDER

New York, July 23.—Achille Esposito, a laborer, arrested by the police in their investigation of the murder last week of eight-year-old Frances McDonnell on Staten Island, was arraigned at New Brighton today on an affidavit charging homicide. He was ordered held for forty-eight hours without bail, while the authorities continued their investigation.

The investigators said they had been unable to verify the story of young Edward Bungey, who said he had been attacked by a man a week previous to the strangling of the McDonnell boy.

SLAYER OF BABY HAD 'CRIMINAL IMPULSE'

London, July 23 (I.N.S.)—Charles Welford Travis, Brooklyn, N. Y., student found guilty of manslaughter in killing his ten months' old baby, was today sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Justice Shearman said he had reports before him, which were not made public, indicating that, while the prisoner was a man of exceptional intelligence, he was subject to a criminal impulse.

"There is no question but that he is perfectly sane," said the court. "The Home Office can, if he desires, consider the prisoner's mental state and his liability to criminal impulse."

The court said the jury found Travis did not kill his child purposely, but did so owing to a criminal impulse and under the circumstances because of the great cruelty in committing the crime, the court could only consider the question of law and not the question of criminal impulse.

3000 ENJOY BOSTON AMERICAN'S BEACH OUTING

TWO MORE TRIPS TO HULL ARE PLANNED

15,000 Mothers and Children Will Be Total of Season's Guests

Three thousand happy Great Boston kiddies and their mothers rode to and from Nantasket Beach on the Boston American's outing special last Saturday. It was a record-breaking crowd, but there's room for more. Two more trips to Hull are planned, and the Boston American will take 15,000 mothers and children to the beach before the season is over.

PLENTY OF CLOWNS AT THE BOSTON AMERICAN OUTING

Frank Chesley's Arcade at the Nantasket Beach Outing Park was a popular attraction for the children who attended the Boston American's outing last Saturday. Here Frank Chesley's clowns are shown in front of the entrance to the Arcade.

On next Tuesday, July 29th, the Boston American will hold its next outing at Nantasket. To those mothers and children who have their tickets, be sure and read the tickets carefully—for if they read 9:45 boat you are to leave on this boat and none other. The same holds true if your ticket reads "10:45 Boat."

SMALL MAJORITY OPPOSED TO BEER

Victoria, B. C., July 23.—Twenty-three ridings voted wet and seventeen dry in the local option poll throughout the Province of British Columbia, June 28, official figures announced today showed. The total number of votes for the sale of beer by the glass was 72,839 compared with 74,145 polling against the measure.

TOBACCO GROWERS TOLD OF PROGRESS

Springfield, July 23.—Joseph W. Alsop, president of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Growers' Association, addressing 5,000 members and their families at the annual outing, said the association now has 3,659 contracts and an increase of 1,527 over the original acreage.

'POTTER'S FIELD FOR ME,' SAYS GIRL'S NOTE

"I have no relatives or friends and I know what I am doing. Potter's Field is good enough for me."

This tragic note beside the body of a young girl cold in death, confronted police officers when they made a forced entrance to a gas filled room at No. 105 Pembroke street, South End, today.

The window and door cracks had been stuffed with cotton. The unfortunate girl had taken every precaution against interference with her suicide plan.

Police believe the girl is "Miss E. M. Shields." They describe her as a "divorcee" blonde of medium height and in fair health.

Mrs. Mildred Fernandez, rooming house maid, detected gas as she passed the door of the girl's room. She summoned a doctor and the police.

Efforts are being made to locate some person who knew the girl and an investigation as to the motive for her taking her life.

The girl is not known at No. 223 Commonwealth avenue, the address she gave when she registered at the Pembroke street house on July 12.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON WHO PAYS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WHO pays wages?

Where does the money come from that is put into the wage-earner's envelope on Saturday?

Who really pays the workman?

It's the Customer, not the Boss.

It would simplify our thinking on the disturbed labor problem if we remembered that.

The secretary or clerk at the pay window may hand us our money, but we are not simple enough to suppose that it is his money; he is just the company's agent, just a machine.

But it is equally true that it is not the boss's money, nor the company's.

It all comes from the buyer. And if he stops buying it will not be very long till the boss stops paying, for he will have nothing to pay with.

The president, vice-president and treasurer, who sit at mahogany desks in an office building are just as much hired men as the man in overalls working at the lathe or heaving logs; the public is the paymaster.

What complicates matters and lets in envy and discontent is that the decision as to what portion of what the public pays in for its clocks, wheelbarrows or bedsteads goes to one man and what to another rests with the gentlemen at the mahogany desks and not with the gentlemen in overalls.

The sentiment seems to be abroad that if we could only get Bolshevism, Sovietism, Socialism or some other ism, the worker who can dig a fair ditch and lay brick to plumb would receive as much wage as his fellow worker who can organize an industry, keep a thousand men in work, save waste and secure efficiency.

All things, including the labors of men, will be worth what they are worth, and no theory nor revolutions can make a peanut worth a beefsteak nor one who can but sweep a floor earn as much as one who can rule a city.

MET BOXER ON BOARD STEAMER

Admits Visits to Stateroom, but Says She Was Never Alone With 'Wild Bull'

New York, July 23.—"Some unfortunate rumors caused to all," Senorita Lourdes Arana said soon to me and escorted me into his room, either girls on the ship were jealous and mean on the trouble for me. I am sure that all the other girls would have liked my stateroom."

Firpo is now attending the release from Ellis Island of his manager, secretary and steward, but he sent the word to Senorita Blanca Lourdes was made the foregoing statement.

"Firpo hasn't come to see me, and I don't want him to," said Senorita Lourdes. "I have made enough trouble for him already. I have received no message from him, either, and hope he has forgotten me entirely."

MADE ILL BY GRILLING.

Senorita Blanca Lourdes cried and left her little nearby on Ellis Island, where she had been detained because Firpo was unable to satisfy Uncle Sam as to the relations with the beautiful Spanish girl, who was one of the passengers on board the American Legion from Argentina.

The Senorita, through an interpreter, said that the grilling she had been made to go through at Ellis Island made her ill.

"I never was so insulted in my life. The inspector was questioned me must have been drunk. If I had seen a man I would have killed him," she said.

"Of course, I am not Firpo's stenographer," she continued, indignantly. "I have never done any kind of work in my life.

MET ON SHIP.

"My folks are well-to-do, and I was on my way to Cuba to see my married sister and my mother. From Cuba I was going to Paris, where I have another married sister. Wasn't I not visiting my family I am traveling.

"But I am afraid to face my folks in Cuba. They will be scandalized. I am afraid it will kill my poor mother.

"It is absolutely untrue that I traveled to America with Firpo. I came alone.

"I didn't really meet Firpo until I saw him on the boat. I saw him right last year when I was in this country for four months. Of course, I thought he was wonderful.

"It isn't true either that I was in his stateroom all the time. Of course, I went there occasionally when he invited me, but I was never alone. He had men friends who were always there."

MANY BOATS MISSING IN GALES OFF FRANCE

Paris, July 22.—Heavy storms have raged the west and south coasts of France, seas running exceptionally high and a number of fishing craft are missing. Lightning wrought havoc in the Montpellier region and several houses at Lauris were struck and burned. A number of olive groves were destroyed by hail. Serious damage was inflicted to the farming region of Lyon and the vineyards bordering Switzerland. The vicinity of Geneva also suffered.

At Royan the waves swept a girl of seven off her feet and she was rescued with difficulty.

ACCUSED APPEARS IN COURT BANDAGED

Swathed in bandages covering the marks left by his alleged victim, John Slasaz of Washington street, Cambridge, appeared in East Cambridge court today to answer to charges of assault with intent to attack Martha Lelle, at whose home he boarded.

When Slasaz attempted to attack the woman she hit him with a bottle over the head, according to the police. The case was continued until Friday.

MISS OGLESBY WEDS COUNT TOMORROW

Rome, July 23 (I.N.S.)—With all objections disposed of, final arrangements were made today for the marriage of Miss Felicita Oglesby, an American, to Count Bolognitti, in the historic Cenci Church tomorrow. The Vatican has granted the permission to the count's family to open the ancient church. Cardinal Nasalli Rocca will celebrate the nuptial mass.

WAR MONUMENTS MUST BE FOR DEAD

Paris, July 22 (A.P.).—The American war monument commission has agreed that American monuments abroad shall be limited and shall be for th memory of the dead and not for the glory of divisions or commands.

General Pershing, Captain R. G. Waddell, commander-in-chief of the American Veterans of Foreign Wars, and several other heads of the organization sailed for home today on the George Washington.

Major Shaler Washburn of Worcester, Mass., in the name of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, today laid a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

BROCKTON HAS TRADE BOOM

Thousands of Shoe Workers Go on Full Time as Orders Pile in

Brockton, July 23.—Thousands of shoe workers in Brockton are light hearted again. With a number of the shoe factories already on full time, others have announced increasing orders that will mean well-filled envelopes for the army of workers that have been on only part time for many months past.

The W. L. Douglas Company has been on full time for the past two weeks, with sufficient orders ahead to keep the factory going at capacity until late in the Fall, with more orders anticipated before that time.

The George E. Keith Company is also operating on full time, while the C. S. Marshall Company went on full time last week.

Thompson Brothers, Wall, Doyle & Daly Company, Diamond Shoe Company, Churchill & Alden Company and a number of other concerns have announced that within a short time their plants will be in full operation.

The Conrad Shoe Company is now turning out 1,800 pairs of shoes a day instead of 1,200 as in the past, while the E. E. Tarbox Company is also nearing capacity.

RED SOX HEADED UP OLD VICTORY TRAIL ONCE MORE

FOHL MEN ARE BACK IN FORM

By NICK FLATLEY

One victory erases the memory of any losing streak; one zippy ball game removes all pallid thoughts manufactured by a stretch of dreary conflicts. Every fan who saw the Sox upset the Indians in an eleven inning thriller—thereby checking the defeat string at nine—will be back for more, convinced that the native club still has its possibilities. The baseball fan is the greatest example of the fact that humanity is always ready and anxious to look on the bright side of things.

It was a fortunate quirk of Fate that gave Bill Wambsganss the chance to upset the enemy and pull the sun from back of the clouds. The invading Indians gave Bill the air last Winter, and to add insult to injury, walked a batter to get at him in that eleventh. William's thanks was very forcefully expressed. He has been a great man in pinches all season, and how, and keeps right on trying. A few of the boys might follow suit without any particular harm to themselves.

Val Picinich likes the Frank Merriwell role, but has decided that hereafter when getting home runs to tie up games in the last section of the ninth he will propel the onion over the barriers. Val rumbled into the plate like a sprinter finishing a marathon. He was too tired even to smile at the applause, which is something catchers haven't much opportunity of collecting. He might ask Judge Landis to permit him to run out inside-the-park homers in that somewhat vivid yellow runabout he minds.

Seems to be much justification for the world's look the old-time ballplayers wear these days. You see them at the ball yards, frowning darkly and saying little to any man. The vets are all scouting, the age-old search for promising baseball talent, and it is the general opinion that there isn't any more. A good young ballplayer isn't to be found in a month of Sundays and things according to the ivory chasers. Thelrs lm't a pleasant lot. They gumshoe around the ball towns. They go down into the burning stretches of mid-Summer Carolina and Texas. Here and there they head south who has some earmarks of ability. Then they find out that he's already bought and paid for. And much more often than not, the wonders they bring forth for trial soon drift back into the distance, accompanied by the raz of the multitude. It's a tough life, there is no doubt of it, good kid players, and it can't be described in a family journal when prospect is in essence. Take it from the scouts, though, they're always that.

LOU NORTH RELEASED OUTRIGHT BY BRAVES

Eddie Riley of the Braves on the Western league informs the Boston fans that Pitcher Lou North has been released outright in the Dallas club of the Texas League and that he would join that club at once.

North was recently purchased by the Boston club from St. Louis. Evidently Dick Rudolph, who is acting manager of the Braves, cannot see that North would be of any use to him.

FIRPO SIGNS FOR BOUT WITH WILLS

New York, July 23.—Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight, called on Tex Rickard today and signed final contracts for his match with Harry Wills, negro heavyweight. The contract stipulated that Firpo could not fight for any other promoter before meeting Wills.

No definite date for the match has been decided upon by Rickard.

The Malden City Club has a few dates open away from home for July and August. BRAVES FINISH SERIES WITH CUBS TODAY

Chicago, Ill., July 23.—Only one more game remains of the series between the Cubs and the Braves, after which the contestants go East for a spell. The beat they could do yesterday was an even break. Winning and losing about running true to form for the Braves but the Cubs lost a half game on the Giants who were trimming the Reds.

There was plenty of excitement to enliven the afternoon. Tim McNamara held the Cubs to three hits in the first game and one of those was a lucky triple that fell between Wilson and Stengel and passed the way to the Cubs' tally in the ninth.

A fan in back of the Cubs' bench fainted late in the second game and in the first contest, Jimmy Cooney had his head split open by a dent in his mask caused by a foul ball from McInnis' bat. All these things would indicate that the 15,000 fans who purchased admission tickets to the Harrison bill got their money's worth.

AMERICANS ARE VICTORS IN YACHT RACES

Marblehead, July 23.—Two international yacht matches in the series between the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto and the Eastern Yacht Club of Marblehead, resulted under the point system in a score of Americans 11, Canadian 7.

The first race was an Americans' victory, the two local yachts finishing first and third, and the Canadians second and fourth. Toronto was given leads on points for second race, with the Americans in first and fourth positions and the Canadians second and third. Herreshoff S class boats were used.

The first race was over a six-mile triangular course in a light breeze. Captain H. P. Bonnell, U. S. A., in the Sagbird, led all the way, with Captain T. K. Wade-Gumansky in the Stella, Captain Caleb Loring, Jr., (American) in the Amorita, and Captain T. M. Wotte (Canadian) in the Reaper, finishing in that order. The elapsed times were: Sagbird, 1:20:49; Stella, 1:22:37; Amorita, 1:24:57; Reaper, 1:27:05.

The second race was over a five-mile course in a moderate to fresh breeze which gave the yachts a reach, a four-mile beat and a run.

The boats were close together in the first mark, but Captain Bonnell took the lead on the reach and held it. The elapsed times: Sagbird, 1:06:35; Reaper, 1:06:49; Stella, 1:08:14; Aminta, 2:02:05. Two races will be sailed today.

WILLS WILL TRAIN IN BERKSHIRES

Williamstown, July 23.—Harry Wills, the Black Panther, who is scheduled to meet Luis Firpo of Argentine early in September, will train in the Berkshires.

Ben Mooy, well-known sportsman who formerly conducted a fight club at Adams, has invited Wills to the Berkshires for two weeks for Summer, as Mr. Mooy's guest during the training for his proposed bout with Dempsey which fell through. He expressed himself as well pleased with the East Cheshire camp at that time.

SO. BOSTON DROPS INTO LAST PLACE

Malden Tel team slipped out of the cellar position it has occupied most of the season when they won their first game of the half to 6, at the expense of South Boston at Ferryway Green, last evening.

The defeat pushed the boys from the Peninsula district into the place which was occupied by Malden up to this time.

OGG CAPTURES N. E. PRO GOLF TITLE

Providence, July 23.—Willie Ogg of the Worcester Country Club is now champion of the New England professional golfer's organization. His total for the 36 holes of play at the Wanamoisett was 294 which proved the winning score as only one else in the field could assemble.

It was through another garrison finish that the Worcester Scot, who is an example of perfection in the way of golfing dispositions, was victorious. At the end of the first 36 holes Ogg trailed the leaders by no less than five strokes. At the end of the first round today he had not only caught the field, but enjoyed a shoestring margin over the new pace setters.

His most serious foe was Herbert Lagerblade, the steel shaft expert, who finished second with a total of 73. The Bristol pro proved the Ogg stumble at the end of the first round today also. While the new champion was stepping his 71 clip, Herbert was knitting together a very fine 72.

George Gordon and Jack Stait, the first day's leaders, had fallen well back in the bunch through failure to break 80. The battle therefore rested twixt Ogg and Lagerblade. The latter showed his dust, it proved to everyone but the Worcesterite with a 75, but was out of luck as far as acquiring a title is considered.

Medford City Club Plays Cantab K. C. Nine Tonight

The Medford City Club will face the Cambridge K. of C. nine tonight at Tufts Oval, Medford. Walker Knox and Bill Leary, former Medford High battery mates, have been selected to work against the Knights.

The visitors will be represented by a formidable nine and the locals should be a close one. Bill Clancy is listed to start on the rubber for the invaders.

Philip Mac, "Archie" Murphy, Ned Laird and Higgins will complete the Medford infield quartet. Fred Ellis, Elderly and Sargent will start in the Medford outfield.

The Somerville Civics, Malden City Club and the Lynn City Team are Medford's opponents for next week.

DORCHESTER B.B.C. IN BIG GAME TONIGHT

The North Dorchester B. B. C. will play the second game of their series with the Cambridge B. B. C. at the Columbia Park, Dorchester, tonight.

Both of these teams have an attendant record for the season to date and a real interesting game is expected.

Coach Welch will be on the ground for Dorchester while either Rambout or Herring will twirl for Cambridge.

O. K. IN N. J. BUT N. G. IN N. Y.

THE most complicated situation in the history of American boxing now threatens to put the kibosh on the propcsed Benny Leonard and Mickey Walker title bout which is slated for nxet month in New Jersey.

Benny Leonard

Mickey Walker

The men have been duly signed, the battle built up and everything pointed to another capacity crowd at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

But now comes the "works." Walker is "in Dutch" with the New York boxing commission but in good standing with the New Jersey boxing lords, while Leonard is in right with the Gotham ring czars but does not stand so healthy with the New Jersey promoters.

The New York commissioners have ruled that if Leonard goes through with the bout he will face a long suspension for having boxed a member of the "in bad" club, while the New Jersey board declares that if the lightweight champion does not go through with his agreement that they will force little "Bennah" right out of the fight game.

It begins to look like Leonard was licked before he started fighting.

To make matters worse the rival boards have taken up the fight among themselves and it may mean the end of the working agreement between the different State boxing commissions.

SOX SEND CONNOLLY TO SAN ANTONIO CLUB

Joe Connolly, the outfielder procured from Cleveland for the Red Sox last Winter, has been sent to the San Antonio Club of the Texas League under option. He left last night for San Antonio.

Since the Red Sox were forced to recall Geygan to play short while Lee is recuperating, the team has numbered twenty-six men, one more than is allowed. One had to be cut, and Connolly fell under the axe. He had no chance to play with the locals, with Boone, Flagstead, Veach and Collins all available, but is sure to be back in the big show before long.

Reading Beaten, 9-5

Lawrence, July 23.—Lawrence Independents had an easy time defeating Reading 9 to 5, in a Boston Twilight League game, played at O'Sullivan Park here tonight. A homer by Jim Thorpe featured.

McDonough Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Game for Saints

Last evening, at the Cypress Street Grounds, the Sts. Peter & Paul A. A. defeated the Brookline T. T. in a seven-inning game by a score of 12 to 0.

W. McDonough, pitching for the Saints, was in great form and held the team without a hit, allowing only three men to reach first base, and only one ball to go past the field.

Brookline T. T., after winning nine straight games, including the Checker Taxi nine, had their winning streak broken by the Saints.

The whole line-up of the Saints were in great form and showed how well they could swing the willow by piling up over 16 hits, of which six were doubles.

W. McDonough had nine strikeouts in the seven innings.

DEMPSEY WILL NOT SUFFER SERIOUSLY

Los Angeles, Calif., July 23.—Jack Dempsey's right arm, with which he punched his way to the world's heavyweight championship, dislocated at the elbow in an automobile accident Sunday night, likely will be slow in getting back to normal but it will come back, according to a statement today by Dr. Clair Wilson, the fighter's chief medical attendant.

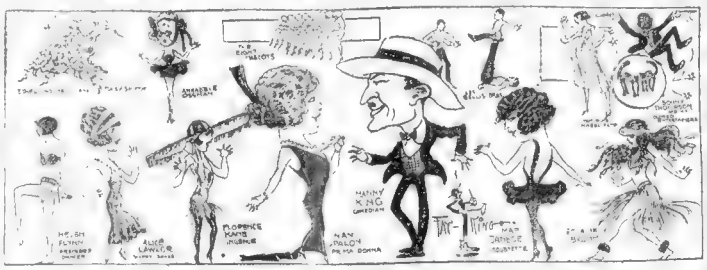
"LET'S GO" WILL MAKE SUMMER PLEASANT



By FAY KING

"Let's Go" is the name of the snappy new Summer show that is at the Gayety Theatre.

It's bright and breezy and easy to look at.

The principals, the chorus, the costumes, the songs and dances, are all fine.

Two performances daily certainly keeps the company in fine shape, for they haven't any extra poundage and are still nice and plump.

Manny King, the leading comedian, keeps his audience in gales of laughter with his foolish antics, and there are several other clever comedians who contribute to the general merriment also.

Nan Palon, the prima donna, is a plump, dimply person, who has an excellent voice and looks very pretty. I liked her rose song very much.

The Pirate number, which little Florence Kane sings with the chorus, is a very snappy number. The girls make very nice looking Captain "Kidders."

Helen Flynn is the premiere dancer with the show, and she sure can dance!!!

There is a clever comedy skit burlesquing the Teapot Dome and also a series of things that never do happen which gets lots of laughter!

There is one scene in a broadcasting station which is very funny.

There are songs about the South Seas with hula dancers, and songs about snowland with all the girls dressed as Eskimos in heart-shaped hats trimmed in eiderdown.

Sonny Thompson and his colored entertainers close the first half of the show, and what that dark boy can do to a drum he just ain't thought of yet!

It looks to me like "Let's Go" is going to help make the Summer very pleasant!

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

SOCIAL girls in a small town have gotten together and signed an agreement not to visit each other's sweethearts.

THIS wouldn't mean anything in a large city, but in a little village a man is nothing to be ashamed of.

ESPECIALLY if he's working.

THERE comes one day demanding non-transferable engagement rings.

IT'S all right to steal your chum's fellow, but it isn't fair to take the ring that came with him.

A WOMAN hates to give up a diamond that took a lot of "passing" to get.

SHE isn't going to sit on lots at night bawling her father's electricity to get a welfare and then have the girl next door take it away from her.

AN automobile license doesn't go with the automobile so why should the ring go with the man?

OF course, if your mom really loves your father, she'll be satisfied with stealing him and leaving his jewelry with you.

OF course every girl should have a husband, even if it has to be her own.

The Helping Hand

Stork Is Busy

With the stork hovering over so many homes of the needy, the Editor has been swamped with appeals for baby clothes. Won't some of our generous readers help her out?

Woman With Eight

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a very poor woman with eight children, from one year old to twelve. My husband has been out of work for a number of weeks and my boy and children need clothing of all kinds. I can make over anything. I wear 38 to 40. I hope you won't forget, please. MRS. G. L.

Widow of 70 Years

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a poor widow, aged seventy years. I am caring for my daughter's children, whose husband has deserted her. The mother is trying to struggle along, while I have a small pension but not enough to clothe myself or the children. The children are a boy 17, who has been out of work all summer; a boy 14, a girl 13, and a girl 11. If any kind lady has house dresses, also of all kinds, underwear that she is through with for myself, I would gladly pay the express.

MRS. A. B. S.

Offers Good Home

Helping Hand Editor:

Perhaps you could help me through your column to find some good, reliable middle aged woman as housekeeper who would like a good home in preference to large wages for a man who recently lost his wife and was left with two boys, ages 11 and four, and who would be good to the children. He is willing to pay a small wage with the good morals and would prefer a Catholic. M. M. S.

Whole Family Sick

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl 15. I am the third oldest. My papa did not work for four years. He is sick with asthma. My poor mother worked up until a month ago. Her feet swell from rheumatism and she cannot walk very much. My older sister has heart trouble. There is a boy working for $15 a week, so you see we are not getting much clothes. All of us are in need. My brother that is working is to help poor mother; his clothes are all worn out. My little sister is 8. Now I speak for myself. I am sixteen for my size. I wear 40. My mother can make over anything to fit us.

THEASA.

Nearly Down and Out

Editor Helping Hand:

I am just about down and out. Maybe some kind person will read this. I have five girls, aged 14, 12, 10, baby 3; there is one boy among them, aged 6. I would like if anything too much for some kind person to send me some clothes. They could go away for the week, but I cannot let them go as they have nothing to wear. My husband is sick and doctor in City Hospital said he was unable to work.

MRS. S.

Husband Out of Work

Editor Helping Hand:

I have three men's shirts, size 15; 3 pair pajamas, one suit for a small man or boy, 6 corset covers, one petticoat, one shirt waist, that would fit a girl fifteen. Will you kindly send me someone's address who could use them. I would like to send all to one family. Everything is in good condition. ANNIE.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. J. M., whose husband is out of work.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney,
Boston Health Commissioner

BREATHING and bathing have much to do with each other and attention should be paid to them. Bathing has a marked influence on the circulation.

Dr. Mahoney.

In both the hot bath and the cold bath, after a little while, as one half hours the circulation regains its normal balance of equal requirements of each part of the body.

Now, when you eat a meal, you set to working not only your stomach, but your intestines, and a lot of other organs, each of which has something to do with the direction of food and the absorption of its nutritive qualities.

While the activity is in progress, which occurs about three times a day, more blood is required by the stomach, intestines and other organs than during the periods between meals.

This extraordinary demand for an excess of blood in the internal organs then from an hour to four hours according to the character of the food taken.

Now you see why it is that your meals and your baths ought not to be taken too close together.

You can see also, under the half-hour limit for meals, one of the usual instructions, you may safely take a bath that long before a meal, but not one so short, why you must not try to take a bath for a much longer period after a meal.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

I have a great many pimples on my face. They are very annoying and sore at times. What can I do for them? A. L.

I would recommend that you consult a physician or other go to one of the skin clinics for free advice.

I was operated on about ten years ago for appendicitis and left a big scar on my side. Can any thing be done to remove it? M. C. WAKEFIELD.

It seems to me from the chain of symptoms which you describe that you should take immediate measures to remedy them. I suggest that you go to the Massachusetts General Hospital and have a thorough physical examination and be guided by their advice.

When I go up stairs I get a fluttering in my heart and you tell me what the trouble is. J. BOSTON.

With the meagre information which you give me it would be hard for me to make a diagnosis of your trouble. I would advise you to have a thorough examination by your family physician in order to determine the exact nature of your trouble.

I have been told that I have tuberculosis and that I can be cured if I go to a sanatorium. Will you please recommend a place for me to go? MALLEN.

There are several sanitaria under the supervision of the State. There is one at Rutland, one at North Reading and one at Lakeville, any one of which would be good places for you. Your physician can make the application for you to be placed on the waiting list for one of these institutions.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

When you press the electric light button in your home or light the gas or step on an electric street car you probably never think for an instant of the enormous amount of capital which has had to be raised so that you could enjoy such modern conveniences.

Utility corporations have been raising money at the rate of a hundred million dollars a month this year. Their total borrowings promise to exceed a thousand million dollars during 1924.

This is far more than our railroads have been borrowing and fully double that of our iron, steel, copper, coal, oil, munitions, motor and shipping industries combined.

Why are utility people able to attract such gigantic amounts of savings?

* * *

First of all, because a distinct change has come over the attitude of the governmental bodies entrusted with the regulation of utility corporations. With few exceptions, regulatory bodies now give utility enterprises a square deal.

* * *

Second, there has come about notable improvement in the type of men running most of our electric, gas and traction companies. In the old days the heads of utility companies too often were mixed up in questionable franchise jiggery, in plain language, they went in for bribing officials. Your outspoken utility president of today appeals direct to the public and scorns to indulge in any franchise hedgery. The result is that the public have more faith in present-day utility managers.

* * *

Third, no other industry has made such progress in raising capital by direct appeals to customers, to say nothing of employes.

Could you believe that one-third of all the colossal amount of capital being raised by utility corporations comes from the selling of securities by the companies to the people within the territories they serve?

Here is another equally impressive fact: One-third of all utility employes are either stockholders already or are now subscribing for stock on the instalment plan.

* * *

Good sometimes comes from evil. It was not until the World War shut off supplies of capital from Europe that our utility corporations began to finance themselves principally local sources.

We have heard much of the great results achieved by the mammoth hydro-electric companies in California and something about what has been done in the South and the Middle West and the East. But such states as Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Washington have also been making notable progress.

In that territory only 416 local stockholders were rounded up when the offer was first made in 1917. They took 1,752 shares. In 1922, 4,923 stockholders purchased 40,016 shares, while last year, 7,744 stockholders purchased 52,787 shares. In fact, 90 per cent of the stockholders has been retained during the last two years, and 90 per cent of the total shares sold locally.

* * *

The average number of shares per purchaser in 1917 was 4; this fell and in 1923 a fraction less than 7.

In that one section of the country alone, $18,000,000 has been invested by local people in junior securities and direct by electric light and power companies. More than 17,000 stockholders have been brought in, while a total of almost 28,000 persons have become interested in junior securities as stockholders, subscribers or employes during the last seven years.

* * *

"It has been said that one family only owns electric bonds, utility stock with an average holding of less than ten shares!"

* * *

In these facts did shrink some light on why Socialism is now making so little headway in this wonderful country of ours!

STOCKS FIRM IN NEW YORK TRADING

In late trading on the New York Stock Exchange, the continued flow of buying orders led to short covering, which pushed prices up further.

Improved demand for steel, from selling centers, reported by the weekly trade reviews, outweighed the adverse Pittsburgh plus decision as a market factor and the steel shares threw off their early heaviness.

An unexpected demand developed for Baldwin Locomotive issues and larger orders were executed in rail merchandise and chain store stocks. Railroad earnings, reported by the season climbing to 167, but there were scattered soft spots in the low-priced rails.

Gains of 3 to 4 points were made by South Porto Rico Sugar, Tobacco Products, Willys-Overland, Woolworth and Union Tank Car. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Phillips Petroleum, Texas Trade Commission abolishing the "Pittsburgh Plus" practice of fixing steel prices, is unlikely to have immediate or far-reaching effect on steel prices or the steel industry. The Pittsburgh basis for steel prices has been largely ignored for some time. The only significant change being some adjustments in prices in various sections, but the consensus of the trade is that these will not be important.

Although the order is directed against the Steel Corporation, it appears that any effect it has on the industry will be more decided in respect to the Independents than as regards the corporation.

It is probable the Steel Corporation will contest the order in the courts.

Stocks of Boston Coal Concerns Well Bought

Boston trading continued active as it had been in the past few sessions, with petroleum slightly easier. Stocks of the coal companies, Hardy Coal and Pond Creek-Pocahontas, were aggressively purchased, with the latter reaching new high on the movement.

Island Creek common fluctuated rather widely, opening at 42¾, rising to it sold off to 121, later selling at 124, against Tuesday night's close of 124. Preferred was also much in demand, touching a new 1924 high at 155, up 2 points. Copper stocks ruled fractionally easier. Price of metal was unchanged at 13c.

There has been authorized for the Boston Stock Exchange list an additional issue of 13,162 shares of Industrial Rayon Corp., making a total of 1,100,000 no par shares listed, the additional stock representing shares held in reserve against the split up of a share, the proceeds to be used for additional working capital.

AUTO OUTPUT IS CLIMBING

Automotive industries will say this week June's production of 240,565 cars and trucks, 20 per cent. under May's, is low stil, in spite of the conservative estimates in the automobile industry. From now on there should be a gradual increase in output that soon will bring the monthly figures back to a normal basis. These increases will not be in the nature of spurts, but a steady gain, brought about by improving general conditions.

While the first half of the July output can be had at the present time, there are manifest individuals who already look upward since July started. The first half of the month was undoubtedly slow, with several natural and seasonal factors contributing factors, but in the last week those who make a study of the trade found the hum of busy factories whose executives have given the go-ahead signal, reports from those who make private examinations of great progress being made in regaining stocks in the warehouses.

HARDWARE BUYING IS MORE FREQUENT

"Hand to mouth buying on the part of retailers continues throughout the hardware markets, orders are small, but are being placed more frequently than they were a month or six weeks ago," Hardware Age in its weekly market summary, will say tomorrow. "Cross conditions in the North and Middle West are reported to be favorable, and a stronger feeling of confidence is being expressed by jobbers and retailers in those sections."

READJUSTMENT ABROAD AIDS COPPERS

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor.

Readjustment abroad is expected to be a great aid to American copper shares.

That is why the red metal shares have been so sprinkling ahead during the past few days.

Copper shares are generally regarded as the one group that will benefit most from the reparations problem, which will mean an influx of an early and large amount of gold.

New facilities received by Baldwin Locomotive Works in the first half have increased 40 per cent over the capacity of the previous year.

Consolidated Textile Corporation, controlled by Samuel Untermyer, has increased its capital stock from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. The new stock is offered to stockholders at par, $100 a share. The company has outstanding $4,000,000 of 7 per cent. preferred stock.

Samuel M. Vauclain

Consistent demand for General Electric shares is regarded by Wall Street as verification of the story of a split-up in the stock, notwithstanding the semi-official denials made by officers. General Electric, it is pointed out, controls many valuable water properties, and is the largest holding the Electric Bond & Share Co., which in turn controls a number of profitable public utility companies. A distribution of the Electric Bond & Share Co.'s stock has been rumored but is not generally credited. That there will be some sort of readjusting in the parent company should appear likely, however.

An offering of $623,000 6½ per cent. first mortgage bonds has been announced by the American Bond and Mortgage Company, on The apprize, a two-story apartment house to be erected at the northeast corner of Seneca and Thirteenth streets, Philadelphia. The bonds are dated June 16, 1924, and interest is payable June 16 and December 16. They are redeemable at 102½ and accrued interest. The offering will be announced in from two to twelve-year 6 per cent. bonds.

The bonds are secured by the site and building of the new twelve-story apartment. The property will contain 200 bachelor apartments and no ground floor will have a restaurant. It will have a large corner store in the basement there will be a barber shop.

This is the second bond offering in Philadelphia to be announced by the American Bond and Mortgage Company within a week. The other was an offering of $1,050,000 6% per cent. first mortgage bonds on the 1900 Rittenhouse square apartment house.

Wall St. Gossip

IMPROVEMENT in steel, copper and other industries has increased pool activities, while some weakness in high grade issues has developed.

FEATURE OF unusual Summer activity of stock market is that main trend continues upward on broadening scale with pronounced resistance to sporadic waves of profit-taking.

READY ABSORPTION of recent realizing sales has featured trading actions, which apparently have been undertaken in the light of news of European developments.

INTERNATIONAL Combustion Engineering in first six months of 1924 more than doubled business of same period in 1923.

HUPP MOTOR, for quarter ended June 30, 1924, reports net after federal taxes, equal to $1.93 per preferred dividends, to 31 cents a share on common against 42 cents a share in preceding quarter.

PRES. VAUCLAIN of Baldwin announced Mexican car order which he negotiated for the Mexican National Railways has been placed with Standard Steel Car.

UNION PACIFIC net operating income for first half-year indicates on equated earnings basis over 9 per cent earnings of 15.5 per cent on stock for 1924, with actual earnings of 16.1 per cent for 1923.

NATIONAL ACME Company reports net loss of 249,776 after depreciation interest for quarter ended June 30 as against net profits of $71,225 in preceding quarter.

NEW YORK DOCK had surplus of $279,522 after taxes and charges for the first half of 1924, a slight gain over same period last year.

NET PROFIT of 372,465 for quarter ended June 30 by Consolidated Textile Products, equal to $4.52 a share on common after allowing for requirement of regular 8 per cent preferred dividend.

Dividend Cut

Massachusetts Cotton Mills declared a quarterly dividend of $2, payable August 11 to stock of record July 22. Company has been paying $3 quarterly.

New Haven Buying Is Reported for Company Control

Buying of New Haven Railroad stock by important banking interests who are withdrawing large blocks from the market has given the shares the lead of the low-priced rails. The turnover is increasing.

The financial district hears the buying is definitely for control of the company and that a new banking group may be formed to take over holdings of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which owns a large interest in the New Haven.

THE LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

The industry James Comee founded, one hundred years ago, has grown to twenty factories, turning out 4,000,000 chairs a year. No one in Gardner can say, "Chairs? The factories mean nothing to me!"

Some of the facts related here about New England cities and their place in industry may be interesting to the Summer visitor. Do let us stop making a secret of New England's leadership!

Sales Managers, Minute Men of Minute Men, Take Up A Cause Which Is All New England's

Sixty miles out from Boston the motorist who has journeyed eastward over the entrancing Mohawk Trail comes suddenly upon a shining bright young settlement where every second building appears to be a chair factory.

The town is Gardner, named in honor of a gallant officer who was mortally wounded at Bunker Hill.

In twenty years, thanks to its dominant if not only industry, the population of Gardner increased 76 per cent.

"The greatest chair-manufacturing town in the world," such is Gardner's claim to industrial fame, and the record would appear to justify it.

Gardner's annual output of chairs is, in round numbers, about 4,000,000; their value, $3,000,000.

To impress upon the traveler the fact that this IS the chair town, Gardner has erected, not far from the railroad station, a great twelve-foot chair the construction of which called for 600 feet of lumber.

There ought not to be, in Gardner or in the neighboring communities of Fitchburg, Ayer, Orange or Athol, a single chair which was made a thousand miles away.

Here, in brief, is set forth one of the reasons for the New England Week which these Six States are to observe from September 15th to September 20th, both dates inclusive.

"To teach New Englanders to BUY New England-made goods, to USE New England-made goods, to PREFER New England-made goods, and —because we know them, use them and prefer them, make them not only better but increasingly cheaper."

The generals who have been planning this campaign to "introduce New England TO New England" are about to call out their troops.

These troops are the commercial travelers of New England, minute men of minute men. New England Week cannot even begin to be a success without their assistance.

Once upon a time the commercial traveler, the "drummer" or "runner" of earlier days, rode up to the country inn at midnight on a mud-bespattered horse. He carried a dirk or a pistol, or both, for protection against highwaymen.

The modern traveling salesman drives an automobile; his great-grandfather quit the horse for the stage-coach; his grandfather the coach for the railroad.

Boundless energy, tact in abundance, selling experience, natural ability, "personality," these are the qualifications and the marks of the successful business traveler. And these are the things which make him indispensable to New England Week.

The rising tide of enthusiasm for the New England idea is reaching a new mark today at a great meeting of the sales managers of New England industries, called at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Federal Reserve Bank.

These sales managers, the executive officers to whom the business travelers make their reports, number nearly eight thousand.

Cottons, woolens, worsteds, hosiery, boots and shoes, paper, machine tools, jewelry, toys, musical instruments, cigars, pork products, confectionery, fish, preserves, apples, cranberries, —chairs, of course—these are a few of the New England interests represented at today's conference.

Late last night so many acceptances had been received to this call upon eight thousand busy executives that it appeared likely the meeting must be adjourned from the Federal Reserve Bank to the Boston City Club.

Manufacturers, jobbers and labor were first interested.

Now, the sales managers.

Next, the business travelers, shock troops of industry.

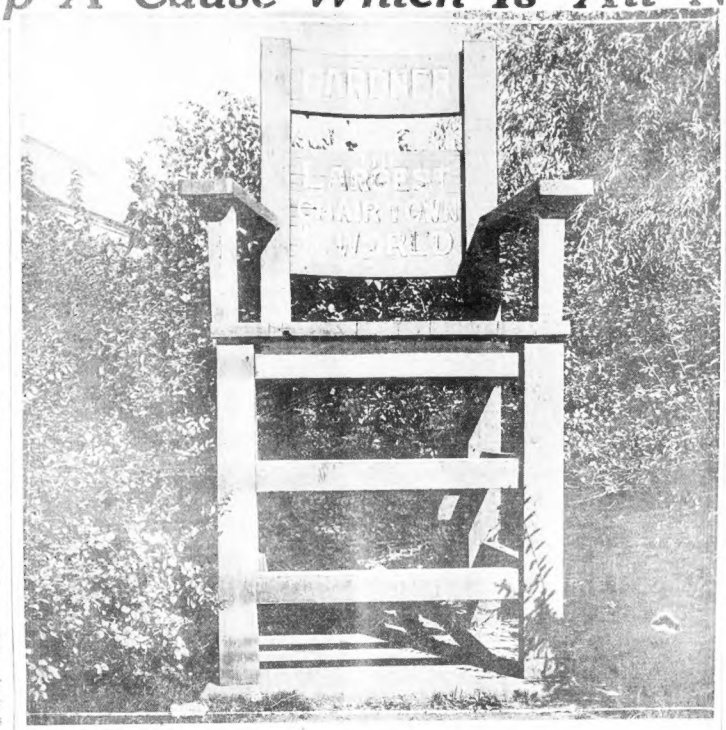
After them, the retail merchant.

And then?

Then, of course, all New England—the rest of us.

But why wait?

There are tens of thousands of visitors amongst us. Men, women and young people have come, as they come every Summer, because this, they say, is the "playground of the Nation."



(Published by courtesy of Tichnor Bros., Inc., postcard manufacturers, Cambridge, Mass.)

No One Visits Gardner Without Learning Something

Let them know that New England also is the WORKSHOP of the Nation.

THEY may not know that Beverly supplies the world with shoe machinery; that Dalton makes all the bank-note paper; that the largest watch factory in the world is Waltham's.

If a visitor threatens to cry over us, because of our "abandoned farms," remind him—tactfully, of course—that a single State in the West has quite as many abandoned TOWNSHIPS.

Holyoke is the greatest paper-making centre in the United States.

Tell the visitor THAT.

Two-thirds of all the combs and hairpins used in this country are made in Leominster.

Tell him that.

Lawrence has the distinction of having the largest worsted mill in the world and of making more worsted goods than any other community.

The most important cotton manufacturing centres in the United States are Fall River and New Bedford.

Two-thirds of the world's supply of salt cod-fish is sent out from Gloucester.

Boston leads in candy-making and is the greatest chocolate manufacturing city in the country.

Pre-eminently a manufacturing State, Massachusetts holds first place in the Western Hemisphere in a full score of industries, and in some important industries leads the world.

The stories of our five other States are EQUALLY interesting. You can talk all day about Maine, and her potatoes, apples, lumber, slate, lime, granite—even her Spring water!—and never be done with superlatives.

What does Vermont suggest? Maple sugar, Morgan horses, Merino sheep, dairy cows, marble, scales, overalls.

Good roads? Yes. Lovely villages? Yes. Rugged mountains? Yes. Picturesque lakes? Yes.

But don't let the visitor forget, for one minute, that we are also "in business."

Talk about New England, from now until New England Week, as you hear the man from Los Angeles talk about HIS part of the country. Boost your homeland as you hear the man from Miami give three cheers for Dade County. Listen to the selling talk of a visitor from any of the Western States and then let HIM know about New England.

And let no New Englander say that New England Week is no concern of HIS.

The industries of New England, their continued life, health and prosperity are the concern of everyone in New England.

Take Lowell, for example, or Dover, or Auburn and Lewiston.

How is the retail merchant in any of these cities going to prosper unless the mills and the shops are prosperous?

The attorney, the physician, every business man and every professional man in town is dependent upon the wage distribution of the local factories.

And what are the factories dependent upon?

Their capacity to distribute wages depends entirely upon the sale of their products.

What are YOU doing to help the industries of YOUR community? Do you buy them, in preference to goods made elsewhere? Do you INSIST upon them? If you are one of the retail merchants of your town, do you push the PRODUCTS made in your town, State or New England?

New England's industrial situation IS serious, but it is far from hopeless.

These Six States have shown a greater capacity to adjust themselves to new economic conditions than any other part of the world.

When steam and steel, one hundred years ago, developed the steamship and the transcontinental railroad, New England mobilized her capital, her labor, and her genius for management and turned directly from shipping and trading to manufacturing.

Lawrence, Lowell, Fall River, New Bedford, twenty splendid cities bear witness to her success.

New England resources and New England brains are once again being put to the test. Manufacturing orders have been moving West, moving South. New England must mobilize the PURCHASING power of New England to support New England products.

There isn't any denying that costs ARE higher in New England. The cost of living is higher. Our power and our transportation cost more than power and transportation in the South and in the West.

How are we going to make up for such industries as we lose, in whole or in part?

By replacing them, some authorities suggest, by industries in which style, design and novelty and brains and skilled workmanship predominate, and where the big demand is for versatility on the part of management and labor.

To know is to be prepared.

A significantly encouraging sign that New England is awake is the meeting this afternoon of the New England sales managers. These high-calibred executives, who know New England and New England conditions as it is given to but few to know them, will get behind New England Week to the last man.

Today's preliminary conference will be followed by another meeting, probably away from Boston, at which a permanent organization will be formed. The "All New England" movement is not a thing of a day, a month, or a year, but is here to stay, to grow and to achieve.

The sales managers will go back to their desks tomorrow and pass the call along to their men on the firing line—the "business travelers."

THEN will enter into the campaign to "sell New England TO New England" the Minute Men par excellence.

Until salesmanship has done its work the ultimate consumer does not realize his need and takes no step towards purchasing.

Not even so good an idea as New England Week can be put over without salesmanship.

Fifteen years ago the telephone and the electric light still were regarded as luxuries. Salesmanship, in one form and another, turned them into necessities.

The typewriter was a good thing from the beginning, but it took salesmanship to substitute it for the pen. The old style razor and shaving soap continued to have the call until SALESMANSHIP made men acquainted with the safety and powder or cream.

"Most cash registers are sold; only a few are bought," an Ohio man has testified.

New England Week needs the traveling salesman. He will respond enthusiastically, as he has responded to every call of patriotism.

Tonight, after a hard day on the road, he is pulling up before the Cheshire House in Keene, Swanton Inn, up near the border, the Bangor House, the Congress, Square, the Bardwell, or some other of the scores of good New England hostelries he has made popular.

A few days more and he will be taking hold of New England Week.

THEN we shall see things move and hear them hum. Retail merchants will begin to take an interest. Newspapers everywhere will join in, as already they have begun to do. Chambers of commerce and boards of trade will join the movement.

Absorb some of the missionary spirit!

Talk to friends and neighbors about New England Week.

Sell New England to the Summer visitor.

Sell him some of the products that your town is famous for.

Tell him the thousand and one interesting things that CAN be told about New England in commerce and industry.

Boost the "playground" idea, but be sure to carry this side line. Send our friends home with the thought that New Englanders are SURE their part of the country is best.

And ISN'T it the best part of the best country in the world, folks?

We KNOW it is!

Let's not keep it a secret any longer.
